Ex-Convict Given 'Ride'

Vancouver Dragnet Scours City After New Assassination Attempt

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A police dragnet was thrown out around Greater Vancouver today after one man was shot and a suspected assailant arrested in a midnight gangland shooting affray in Stanley Park.

High-ranking city police and Royal Canadian Mounted Police spearheaded the investigation after ex-convict William Semnick, about 50, was shot in the groin in what police described as an apparent underworld narcotics assassination attempt.

An unidentified suspect, about 26, was arrested shortly after the shooting and was being held in city jail. A second man believed to have taken part in the attempted killing was the object of one of the greatest manhunts in Vancouver history.

The chance arrival of a patrolling police constable was credited with saving the life of Semnick, who was sentenced in Nov., 1950, to a four-year prison term on a narcotics conviction. Semnick, who was also charged with the $9,300 hold-up of a west end Bank of Montreal branch in the same month, was questioned in the General Hospital today where officials described his condition as good.

A stay of proceedings was

VICTIM'S FAMILY HERE

A bizarre midnight shooting at Vancouver had echoes in Victoria today when it was reliably learned that the wife and children of the victim of the latest gangland atrocity are resident here.

Mrs. Semnick, a boy 11 and a girl are known to be in this area. RCMP could not say where the three are living and added that in any event their presence would be shielded to protect them from the violence which was directed today at Semnick.

There is evidence that until 1949 Semnick's family lived in James Bay and that at one time posed under an assumed name.

Entered in the bank robbery trial due to insufficient evidence.

Victim 'Taken for a Ride'

Police said Semnick was "taken for a ride" by two rival narcotics gangsters and escaped from his would-be assassins near Lumberman's Arch in Stanley Park.

Four shots were fired at Semnick, but only one found its mark. The gunman fled when park patrolman Constable Bill Lindsay happened on the scene.

The unidentified suspect was captured soaking wet when he was pulled from the chilling waters of Coal Harbor about half an hour after the shooting. He had been hanging over the

B.C. to Build Marpole Span; Spring Start

Tenders for construction of a new Marpole Bridge will be called immediately, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today.

The four-lane, high-level span will cross the Fraser River at the foot of Oak Street. Cost is estimated at $8,000,000. The bridge will be undertaken by B.C.'s Toll Bridge and Highway Authority, until such time as "the federal government and the city of Vancouver are prepared to put up one-third of the cost."

The toll authority will call for tenders on approaches, the main span, and a feeder bridge across Morey Channel. The Morey Channel bridge will have a swing span to allow free movement of boat traffic.

Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi said about two or three months' study of the specifications would be needed by construction firms, and that actual work on both bridges would start "early in the spring."

Mr. Gagliardi will leave Victoria for Ottawa Thursday, in a last-ditch attempt to obtain federal government participation. Earlier requests have been turned down.

New Tax Plan For Provinces

St. Laurent Wants All Premiers Present for Parley With Duplessis

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today he hopes to have a new tax proposal to place before provincial premiers before the end of the year.

Such a tax plan, he said, would result from a study of new proposals by Quebec Premier Duplessis for solving the tax differences between the Quebec and federal governments.

Mr. Duplessis' proposals, received Tuesday, were studied by the cabinet today and Mr. St. Laurent indicated to reporters following a morning meeting that a Dominion-provincial tax conference with the premiers likely would result.

FORERUNNER

Such a conference, he said, likely would lead to a later full-dress conference on federal-provincial fiscal relations before the present tax agreements with nine provinces expire at the end of 1956.

The prime minister indicated he wants the premiers of the other provinces to hear and discuss Mr. Duplessis' proposals, received here Tuesday in a letter, before any tax agreement is negotiated between the federal and Quebec governments.

He said he does not want to have an agreement with Quebec presented to the other provinces as a "fait accompli" without giving them an opportunity to discuss it.

Mr. St. Laurent made a similar

'ECCLESIASTICAL DISCIPLINE' ESSENTIAL

Pope Stresses Rank of Clergy, Temporal Powers of Bishops

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Pope Pius XII in an address made public today strongly defended the right of the church "to direct the consciences and actions of men" in matters which are not strictly religious.

The 78-year-old pontiff gave his views on this and other matters in a 7,000-word address to 25 cardinals, 218 archbishops and bishops and other churchmen who came to Rome for the ceremony of the "queenship" of the Virgin Mary.

Speaking in Latin the pope: 1. Said the officiating priest alone has the power to offer sacrifice and goes to the altar "subordinate to Christ but ranking above the people."

2. Noted "with joy" that liturgical groups have been established in many dioceses to study the liturgy but warned that these should not lead to attempts "to adapt and change the liturgy according to their own judgment."

3. Denounced "noticeable attitudes and tendencies of mind which presume to check and set limits to the power of the bishops should be restricted to church matters and said the power of the church is not bound by "matters strictly religious."

4. Declared it was the duty of the church to "direct" the social and international matters which were not strictly religious because "they pertain to the moral order."

5. Insisted that complete "ecclesiastical discipline" is essential to the welfare of the church and presented the hierarchy with arguments they should use against those who criticize the dictum.

U.S. Senate Control Hinges on One Seat

'No Repudiation'

President Dwight Eisenhower said in Washington today that he did not feel that the gains made by the Democrats in Tuesday's voting constituted a repudiation of his administration. The president commented philosophically that setbacks must be expected in an off-year election. Democratic leader Adlai Stevenson has so far refrained from comment on the trend to his party.

Surge of Democrats Welcomed in Ottawa

Prime Minister St. Laurent Refuses Comment On U.S. Vote Outcome; Watch Seaway Pacts

OTTAWA (BUP)—Democratic party victories in the U.S. congressional and state elections were generally welcomed in Canadian government and political circles today, but the welcome was tempered with some notes of reserve.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, his cabinet, and opposition party leaders stuck to their custom of refusing to comment directly on the political developments in another friendly country. But most government leaders indicated they were pleased with the Democratic gains, particularly as they might be expected to affect United States trade policy. (See Victor Mackie's Ottawa exclusive on page 3.)

The reservations held by most Ottawa observers hinged on what effect the Democratic victories would have on the recently-negotiated agreements for power and navigation works in development of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"BLOOD BROTHERS" The Democrats had bitterly criticized the New York State Republican administration for its handling of the power aspects of the seaway, charging that retiring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had bargained away a larger share than he should have of the power potential of the international section of the river.

What line of policy the new state Democratic administration may take was certain to be a case for careful watching here. So far as Prime Minister St. Laurent's Liberal administration here was concerned, it had always looked upon the Democrats as something of "blood brothers" in politics, and the Liberals found reassurance for their own political future in the resurgence of Democratic strength in the past two years.

The Canadian government got along well in most matters with the Eisenhower administration, and government leaders were sure they would continue to do so.

WIRE BRIEFS

Speaker to Retire

WINNIPEG (CP)—Hon. N. V. Bachinsky, speaker of the Manitoba legislature since 1950, said today he will resign from public life at the end of the present House. A Liberal-Progressive member of the legislature for 32 years, he represents the constituency of Fisher.

Far's th' U.S. elections go, looks like th' country wuz tryin' t' save Eisenhower from his friends.

Lot o' th' present peace in Europe seems t' hev bin due t' thet Eden 'our with Adenauer.

Demos Win House —But No Landslide

With counting of votes still incomplete, it was clear today that the Democratic party had made gains in the off-year election in the United States, but they by no means amounted to a landslide against the Republican administration.

Here are the salient points:

1. Democrats have wrested control of the House of Representatives from the Republicans, with 229 members already definitely elected out of the 435-seat House.

2. The battle for the Senate appears to rest on a recount in New Jersey and there is a prospect it will finish in a 48-48 deadlock which Vice-President Richard Nixon will break, thus retaining control for the Republicans in organizing the body.

3. Democrats have taken at least six governorships away from the Republicans.

4. President Eisenhower has claimed that since the Democratic swing was not overwhelming, it cannot be counted as a repudiation of his policies.

5. Political observers feel that President Eisenhower's last-minute entry into the campaign must have had a considerable effect in holding down the expected Democratic tide in the usual off-year trend toward the party out of power.

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—Republicans and Democrats battled vote by vote today in a historical contest for control of the senate.

The Democrats captured the house with seats to spare and won six governorships away from the Republicans in an election so crammed with surprises and close races that it was unparalleled in the history of recent mid-term contests.

The big excitement was in the senate race. In early afternoon the Republicans took a razor-thin lead in New Jersey which, if it stood up, could make the new senate count Republicans 48, Democrats 47, independent 1.

But the New Jersey margin for Republican Clifford P. Case over Democratic Charles R. Howell was so small that an official recount will be necessary to prove the outcome. Howell had held the lead in the United Press count until around mid-day, when tabulation of absentee ballots wiped out his margin and put Case ahead.

United Press tabulations shortly before 1 p.m. showed the Democrats had definitely elected 22 senators and Republican 13. In three close and still not final races the Republicans led in two, the Democrats in one.

Shortly before 11 a.m., President Eisenhower acknowledged the Democratic mid-term gains by promising at his news conference to confer with opposition leaders on next year's administration legislative program.

The battle for control of the Senate centered in five crucial contests. Here is the situation, state by state, in the climax: Michigan—Democrat Patrick V. McNamara defeated Sen. (Continued on Page 22)

6 GOP Governorships Fall to Democrats

WASHINGTON (UP)—Democrats captured six Republican governorships Tuesday in a series of election upsets that toppled longtime GOP regimes in New York and Pennsylvania.

Of the 33 governorships at stake in Tuesday's balloting, Democratic candidates captured 15 and were leading in four others. GOP candidates rode to victory in eight states and were ahead in six others. But no Republican was ahead in a state that now has a Democratic governor.

Besides New York and Pennsylvania, Democrats defeated Republican governors in Connecticut, New Mexico, Colorado and Minnesota.

Traditionally Republican Maine elected a Democratic governor Sept. 13.

Averell Harriman, millionaire businessman and veteran aide to Democratic presidents, scored a narrow victory over Sen. Irving M. Ives (R) in New York's dramatic gubernatorial race. Republicans have held the governorship for the last 12 years.

But the margin was so close—about 16,000 votes in returns early today—that retiring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey ordered police to guard all ballot boxes until the completion of a canvass.

Democrats struck gubernatorial paydirt in Pennsylvania for the first time in 16 years when George M. Leader rode to victory over Lloyd H. Wood.

In Connecticut, former Democratic congressman Abraham A. Ribicoff, unseated Republican John Davis Lodge.

In Massachusetts, Republican Gov. Christian A. Herter defeated Democratic challenger Robert F. Murphy, after the lead had switched back and forth several times in early returns.

In Minnesota, Democrat Orval Freeman, a member of the liberal wing of the party, defeated Gov. C. Elmer Anderson, who defeated Freeman by 160,000 votes in 1952.

Another close one was in Wisconsin where Gov. Walter J. Kohler held a slim lead over Democrat William W. Proxmire. Kohler won over Proxmire by 400,000 votes two years ago.

Gubernatorial returns spotlighted several Democrats as likely presidential nomination timber two years from now. Averell Harriman, who denies such ambitions, became a Democratic presidential factor by his defeat of Sen. Irving M. Ives, Republican, for governor of New York.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche was reelected in Ohio to a fifth term, surely enough to give him considerable claim on Democratic attention in 1956, although he professes lack of interest.

Young and wealthy G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams also invited a second look from interested Democrats by winning a fourth gubernatorial term in big Michigan.

In Arizona and Wyoming, Democrats were ahead in contests for governorships now held by Republicans.

Gubernatorial returns from Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania were sledge hammer political blows, not only to the Republican organization in the east but, also, to some of the personalities involved.

LONDON DOCK WORKERS VOTE FOR WORK—AGAIN

LONDON (Reuters)—Mass strike meetings in London's troubled dock area voted today for a return to work Thursday morning after the third strike in as many days.

A massive month-long strike ended Monday morning. A few hours later several thousand London longshoremen were out again. They voted later in the day to go back today.

A few hours after they were back on the job this morning they were out again.

The ensuing mass meetings, however, voted to return to work tomorrow—for the third time this week.

Canada Helps India To Feed Her Hordes

Colombo Plan Accomplishments Sketched By Sinclair in Laurier Club Speech

A "great agricultural revolution" is taking place in India, where the nation's leaders are faced with the awesome problem of finding sufficient food for 360,000,000 semi-starving people.

That was the message given the Victoria Laurier Club Tuesday by Federal Fisheries Minister James Sinclair, who reported on Canada's contribution to Southeast Asian development through the "partnership of nations," the Colombo plan.

Mr. Sinclair said improving agricultural land in India is the biggest job, although not spectacular, being aided by contributing Colombo plan nations.

Mr. Sinclair said "slow but sound progress" is being made by taking "one bright young man from each village to a nearby centre for a pitifully short, three-month course in modern farming methods."

The young man then returns to his village, to show the other villagers how to get more production from their small plots of land.

"They must be taught to learn the use of such a simple thing as a modern shovel," he said.

"One third of all the 600,000,000 in Southeast Asia go to bed hungry every night," said Mr. Sinclair. India and Pakistan are about the only places in the world in which the standard of living has declined in the last 50 years.

He said each contributing nation puts into the Colombo plan what it is best fitted to give. Canada is experienced in power development, grain growing and agricultural science, and our aid has taken these lines.

$25 Million a Year Given by Canada

Canadian money at the rate of $25,000,000 a year, and Canadian technicians, are showing young Indians, Pakistanis, Ceylonese, Nepalese and Burmese how to use modern machines and methods in the agricultural and power development of their countries.

"The Colombo plan is valuable help," said Mr. Sinclair, "but the greatest job is being done by the countries themselves." He told of watching 2,000 Bengal women carrying rocks on their heads to build a 260-foot high dam. They received about 25 cents a day in wages, "and were happy to have the job."

Some peculiar problems have been met by Colombo plan technicians, including the persuasion of wild hill tribesmen to allow development projects to go ahead without interference.

Mr. Sinclair said that during his 1953 tour of Colombo plan countries he watched a meeting held with tribesmen along the Afghan border, where a hydro-dam is being constructed.

Earlier, the Fisheries Minister told undergraduates at Victoria College of the opportunities offered students of science in Canada's fisheries.

Jean Drapeau Takes Office As Montreal Mayor

MONTREAL (CP)—Natty little Jean Drapeau, his new broom primed for action, takes office as mayor today with a chance to sweep out the vice cobwebs which he says have been accumulating in this gay old city for years.

The 38-year-old lawyer, who romped to victory in civic elections more than a week ago, delayed taking office until the deadline for requesting a judicial recount passed Tuesday night. Since his nearest opponent polled some 50,000 fewer votes than he did, none of the eight men who ran against him bothered to ask for another tabulation.

Mr. Drapeau has said that one of his first acts on taking over at city hall will be to suspend police director J. Albert Langlois, one of the central figures in a 3½-year vice inquiry that wound up with a scathing indictment of 20 members and former members of the police department for tolerating vice between 1941 and 1950.

ELECTION SIDELIGHTS

One Village Goes Half Wet

CAMBRIDGE, N.Y. (AP)—A local option vote Tuesday made this village half wet and half dry.

The main street is the dividing line, with half of the village in the township of Cambridge and the other half in the township of White Creek.

Voters in the town of Cambridge approved the sale of liquor for consumption on and off the premises, as well as its sale in connection with the keeping of hotels.

The sale of liquor is prohibited in White Creek.

GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Daniel C. Frank, 95-year-old retired glove cutter, voted in his 74th election Tuesday. He cast his 74th straight Republican ballot.

Frank said he was the only Republican of a family of five and had outlived the rest of the family.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Birmingham voters Tuesday defeated a proposed plan to put fluorides in the city's drinking water as a means of curbing tooth decay.

The ballots showed 7,220 favoring the proposal; while 11,393 voted against it.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Slowly mounting returns today gave a 19-to-1 lead to a proposed state constitutional amendment to restrict Negro voting in Mississippi.

Ex-'Veep' Barkley Returned to Senate

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—The "Veep" was headed back to the Senate today.

Former vice-president Alben W. Barkley regained the Senate seat he held for 22 years before he became vice-president in 1948. He still has never lost to a Republican in 50 years of political life.

The veteran Democrat beat the top Republican vote-getter, this border state has ever seen, Sen. John Sherman Cooper. Barkley led Cooper by more than 75,000 votes.

It generally was believed that Barkley couldn't be beaten in Kentucky, but the scope of his victory was surprising. It was thought that his age—he'll be 77 three weeks from now—might make his election fight a tough one.

Barkley ran on his record of a half-century of public service to Kentucky, and he campaigned as vigorously as ever, stumping the state from border to border with his well-known wit and oratory.

He owed his victory to Kentucky's tobacco-raising farmers, long his staunchest supporters. Cooper carried metropolitan Louisville by a few hundred votes, but was swamped in the out-state voting.

Speaking from his Paducah home, Barkley said, "I appreciate this new expression of confidence from the people of Kentucky. I will devote all my energies, both physical and mental, in working for the people of my state."

Kidnapping Charge In New Westminster

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Three men were arrested and a fourth was being sought Tuesday night following an alleged kidnapping of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson.

The couple, who said they thought "it was all a joke," said they were forced to enter a car at gunpoint by four men who passed themselves off as police officers.

He said engineers are needed to develop new methods to protect fingerlings making their way past dams built across spawning rivers. No existing method is entirely satisfactory, he said.

In the field of home economics, dieticians are required to devise more attractive fish dishes, part of the job of selling the nation's fish catch.

PENTICTON (CP)—A total of 100,000 boxes of Okanagan apples will have been shipped to the United Kingdom by the end of this week, Carl Stevenson, assistant sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., said Tuesday.

In Bitter N.Y. Race

Democrat Averell Harriman's hairbreadth election as governor of New York by a margin of about 10,000 votes prompted Governor Thomas Dewey to impound the ballot boxes today pending an official canvass to start immediately. Sen. Irving Ives, right, conceded defeat Tuesday night but his come-from-behind spurt changed the picture. The state governorship has been held by the Republicans for over a decade. It is known as a stepping stone for presidential aspirants. Franklin Roosevelt was governor of New York before going to the White House, and retired Governor Thomas Dewey was Republican candidate twice for the presidency.

Republicans Retain Seats in Washington

Magnuson Lone Democratic Candidate Sure Of Election; Daylight Saving Turned Down

SEATTLE (AP)—Washington state voters, turning out in far greater numbers than expected on Tuesday apparently voted to leave the Republicans with a 6-to-1 majority in the state's federal congressional delegation.

The Republican nominees led in all six districts. In three of them the Democrats retained a mathematical chance—but little else—to come from behind.

The lone Democrat assured of election was Don Magnuson, congressman-at-large, who decisively thumped Spokane's Al Canwell in a race that never appeared close.

The voters turned down several initiative measures. One designed to prohibit liquor advertising on television programs from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily suffered a 3-to-1 defeat.

Neuberger Puts Up Fight In Oregon

PORTLAND (AP)—Oregon's Republican Sen. Guy Cordon took a 10,000 vote lead with more than 360,000 counted in his re-election bid today and it looked probably but not certainly safe.

Democrat Richard L. Neuberger, his 41-year-old opponent, said "the existing trend seems to indicate Mr. Cordon's election by a narrow margin. If this proves true, I wish him every success in his new term."

Incomplete unofficial returns from 2,033 of the state's 2,499 precincts gave Cordon 185,308 to Neuberger's 175,570.

Horse-shoes by TIFFANY'S

AROUND THE END of the last century, when aluminum was practically a precious metal, a famous racing stable had one of its thoroughbreds shod with racing plates of the weight-saving material. They were made at Tiffany's, the famous New York jewellery house.

Nowadays it is standard practice for race horses to run on aluminum shoes. Since the turn of the century—the price of aluminum has been reduced to the point where it is now one of the most economical of all materials, extensively used for things like barns and boats and bus bodies. Vote Result Important To Canadians

Split Could Have Profound Effect on U.S. Tariff Policy

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Prospect of Republican control over one house and Democratic control over the house of representatives in Washington was causing Canadian trade and agricultural authorities some concern because of a fear that it might mean increased trade barriers particularly in the field of agricultural commodities.

Traditionally a low-tariff party, the Democrats campaigned in this year's election on the pledge to clear away the United States' huge agricultural surpluses. These blunt election promises by the Democrats have disturbed government authorities here as they watched the election campaign in progress.

"No one really knows what will come out of this election now in regard to our trade relations. A Democratic majority in one House and Republican majority in the other might bring parochial politics to the top. Such a prospect is 'frightening' said one government authority here Wednesday.

Others pointed out that the peculiar cross-current in the election was that a victory for the Democrats in both Houses might have meant espousal of freer trade policies generally except in the vitally important field of agriculture.

The Democrats, in order to carry out their promise of getting rid of the agricultural surpluses, would probably impose further restrictions on farm imports from foreign countries, including Canada. They would also probably subsidize U.S. producers to a greater extent.

A Democratic victory in the Senate would almost inevitably have set back agriculture secretary Ezra Benson's farm plan. The plan is regarded with some favor here and trade and agricultural experts would not like to see it wrecked in favor of the Democratic policies for a more rigid system.

NEW CANDIDATE for City Council is Mrs. W. H. Wilson, daughter of retiring Alderman Mrs. Margaret Christie. Mrs. Wilson, who lives at 80 Howe Street, confirmed her candidacy Tuesday afternoon. President of the Victoria Citizens Council and past president of the Women's Canadian Club, votes ahead of Harlan Callahan, long-time Republican sheriff, in the December civic contest.

European Press Headlines Read 'Democrats On Way To Beat Ike'

LONDON (Reuters)—Western European newspapers carried banner headlines of United States election results in all editions this morning and afternoon.

While free Europeans grabbed reports into the Communist countries from powerful transmitters in Washington, Tangier and Munich.

Communist newspapers on both sides of the Iron Curtain, which for days have been sneering at the "light vote" which would be cast because the elections were "fixed" and "unrepresentative," were largely silent.

Stockholm's Expressen said U.S. foreign policy now may be "modified."

"Democrats on way to beating Ike," bannered London's afternoon newspaper, The Star.

In Berlin, the newspaper Der Abend said in an editorial: "The loser is named McCarthy."

Stockholm's Expressen ran five pages of election news.

Why Rush Re-Assessment?

THE UNION OF B.C. MUNICIPALITIES is dissatisfied with the Government's assessment equalization plan in its present state. The Union said so emphatically at its convention here two weeks ago.

The B.C. Chamber of Commerce is also dissatisfied, particularly with the proposal to put the plan into operation next year. The Chamber has asked the Government to wait another 12 months before applying it.

The Union of B.C. Municipalities represents government at the closest level possible to the people. The B.C. Chamber of Commerce speaks for industry and business. Hence together the two organizations should express the views of the vast majority of citizens, if not all.

Both oppose early application of the Government's plan for definite reasons. They do not think the methods of assessment on which equalization is sought are accurate enough or remove the danger of discrimination.

That point was brought home sharply at the UBCM meeting. From a government advisory committee it learned that the advisers themselves doubted the accuracy or adequacy of assessment by spot checks. Municipal assessors have voiced the same misgivings.

The provincial Chamber of Commerce underscored its belief that insufficient time had been allowed for the assessment. Chamber delegates noted the need for adjustments to the regulations under which the commissioner was required to work, the challenges that had been raised to his methods, and the officer's inability to do the job he was expected to do in the time allowed him.

"It seems quite evident," said a resolution presented to the Chamber of Commerce convention by the Vancouver Board of Trade, "that not only will the goal of equalization between communities not be realized when the rolls are filed, but that in the larger centres there may well be inequities between taxpayers themselves."

For that reason the convention called for a year's delay in applying the scheme.

These are not frivolous objections. They are not raised to embarrass the present government. They are put forward because of a general appreciation of the fact that equalized assessment fails from the beginning if it discloses, in whole or in major part, serious inequalities.

The attitudes and recommendations of the municipalities and the Chamber of Commerce deserve the fullest consideration.

The new scheme is the base on which an educational finance formula is to be built. No one questions the importance of this development to every taxpayer in British Columbia. It is far too vital to be raised on a foundation which is crumbling even before the forms have been removed.

Criticism of the spot check assessment has not been adequately answered. Were the scheme to be forced through with the deficiencies already revealed in it, the department of education would be placed in an unfair and prejudiced position. The minister and his assistants deserve something better than that. They should be allowed time to work out a fair school finance system on a base that is thoroughly secure. An additional year is not too long a period to provide that assurance.

End of an Unhappy Chapter

SHAWNIGAN LAKE BOYS School has made public its official position on the Hewitt-Holtz marriage. The statement traces, step by step, the incidents leading up to and following the occurrence which created international controversy and led to charges of a color bar at the school.

"The issue," the announcement says, "was never one of race discrimination or 'color bar.' There has not been, and is not such an issue at Shawnigan Lake School. The issue was solely that of a 'mixed marriage.'"

This is a distinction so fine it will escape most readers. It appears, however, to satisfy the school authorities that they were justified in the action they took, though it can scarcely alter the attitude of Mrs.

Hewitt. The parties appear to be irreconcilable.

The incident and the surrounding publicity have injured a school which has enjoyed an excellent reputation. From it came innumerable young men who fought in the last war for the very principles which Mrs. Hewitt believes to have been violated in her personal experience with the institution.

An unhappy situation apparently has come to an end without harmony being restored. Everyone connected with the incident has suffered.

If there is any merit to be salvaged from the distressing affair, it will be found only in the promptness with which public opinion sprang to the support of an individual against whom the people believed discrimination was being practised.

While the Wheels Ran Smoothly

THE FORTHCOMING RETIREMENT of Capt. John Cromack will sever a connection with Government House that for the past 26 years has been a pleasant and valuable one both for those in the official residence and for the public at large.

As private secretary to five lieutenant governors, Capt. Cromack has himself become a local institution. As liaison officer between successive Royal representatives and the public he has discharged a difficult task with unfailing tact and diplomacy. And although by inclination and the nature of his office he sought to avoid the limelight, he will be long remembered by this community.

Lieut.-Cmdr. Gar Dixon, who succeeds to the office, is already well known to Victorians. As assistant to Capt. Cromack he has had training under one for whom the intricacies of protocol hold no secrets, and it is not presumptuous to predict for him a similarly long and distinguished career. Cmdr. Dixon assumes office under a Lieutenant-Governor whose popularity has not been exceeded by that of any predecessor—a happy state of affairs in which his private staff may very logically share.

California Wines for B.C.

THE SOCIAL CREDIT LEAGUE of B.C. has added its voice to those raised in support of the importation of California wines for sale in Government liquor stores. This action follows similar advocacy from many points. Sale of California wines here, it will be remembered, was one of the recommendations of the Stevens commission. Support has been given by many individuals who believe they could purchase a superior product at a reasonable cost if the California wines were allowed in.

What are we waiting for, Mr. Bonner?

Exit the Warriors?

THE ESTIMATE OF DR. GORDON SHRUM, head of the physics department at U.B.C., that the advance of scientific weapons will make war impossible within five or ten years, is encouragement of a sort. He is not the first eminent scientist to predict that war will become too horrible to wage. Guided missiles, with atomic warheads and devices to ensure that they "home" on the target, will ensure total destruction for aggressors as well as victims. War, so goes the argument, will therefore become a losing proposition, so that even the overly ambitious will not dare resort to it.

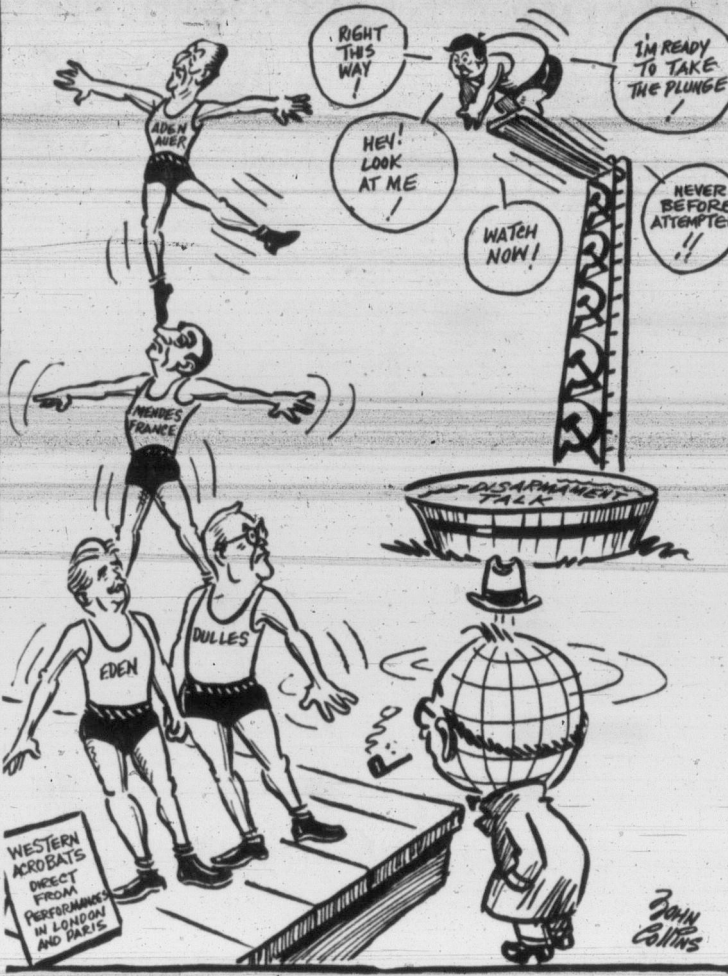

But Dr. Shrum's prognosis, is accompanied by an "if." The terror of war, and the ability to inflict it, must not become the prerogative of an aggressive power. The democracies, sworn to non-aggression, must keep pace with, and even exceed, the terrible armaments available to potential aggressors, if fear of retaliatory destruction is to be effective. Thus, while we may escape the horror of war, we shall not escape the cost of continually increasing armament.

Science's pardon for a condemned world thus becomes little more than a reprieve. For there is the continuing danger that ultimately some nation will stumble upon a new scientific weapon which is so shattering and so instantaneous that no defense and no retaliation will be possible. If peace-loving people discover it first and can retain its secret, then science will indeed have made war at least improbable. But if aggressors find it then science will have condemned mankind to slavery, if not extinction.

The scientist retains one escape from this dilemma. He may make the earth so wonderful a place to live in that even the most envious nation will need have no recourse to fighting to gain all its needs. Atomic power and other wonders yet unborn could in the course of time conceivably make the globe a garden of Eden from pole to pole. In such an environment man's nature might eventually be so conditioned that war would become mere folklore lost in the mists of time. But the feeling is strong that something more than science will be required—and certainly a much longer period of time than five to ten years.

Try to Steal the Show

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

NOW and then everyone reads about the frightful hardships of shipwrecked men who had to eat seagulls. I was reading such an account of a B.C. shipwreck which happened only last week or so. I myself have no ambition to eat a gull. Gulls' eggs, these are sold at very high prices in London's West End. Only the menu calls them plover's eggs, and this has been true for many years, ever since it became illegal to take real plover's eggs. And if you do not believe this, ask Andre Simon, who knows food better than most men do, and most women too, except of course Home Economists.

But as for eating the gull when he has left the egg, no. All the same, Andre Simon says gulls once fetched high prices in London and were presumably eaten with reverent gusto. For example, in 1570... that is to say, before the long depression that is ignored in most accounts of the prosperous days of Good Queen Bess... in 1570 the Star Chamber liked to feed its judges well, so it bought them seagulls at five shillings each. And in those days five shillings would have bought 42 pounds of excellent beef.

It is only fair to add that the gulls were not shot while eating garbage and fish. They were netted alive and then fed on beef, liver, and grain. But a gull's a gull for a' that.

OF HUMAN NATURE

IN MR. SOMERSET MAUGHAM'S new book on 10 great novels and their authors, he reveals some curious things about himself. Small things. Small in both senses, for they reveal a smallness in him that I am sorry to discover. One would imagine that the proper study of a distinguished novelist and playwright would be Human Nature. But he goes badly wrong in quite elementary things. For example, in speaking of the young Dickens, he says "The boys he worked with were friendly and it is hard to see why he should have found it such a degradation to consort with them..." It may be that John Dickens was a bit of a snob about pretensions that had no basis, but a lad of twelve surely had little sense of social distinctions.

DOES Mr. Maugham seriously suggest that children of twelve are incapable of much snobbery? Yes, he does. I wonder how long it is since he listened to children of twelve, even in this age when we cannot begin to picture the snobbery of 1824. Even quite sensible children of twelve are apt to be servile to a kid whose father owns a Cadillac and apt to be contemptuous of a kid whose house is a little dirty or small through no fault of his own. If their values are false and they are filled with a perpetual sense of rivalry and a desire to show off, and if they are always wanting to classify and rank things, then how the devil can they avoid snobbery? And they don't avoid it, they lap it up.

ONE of the worst snobs I ever knew was a dog. If a man was in rough clothes or was obviously a foreigner, the dog sneered at him. If the clothes were bad enough, the dog bit him. But as soon as the dog got to know me, he didn't mind it when I dressed in very shabby clothes. At least, he said he didn't. And here he differed from the child of twelve. A child of twelve would rather cut his own throat than be seen with me when I am in my roughest costume, no matter how much he loved me.

Some of the most fantastic snobs I have known have been Chinese. (All my Chinese friends have been Cantonese... things may be different in other parts of China, but I doubt it.) You would think that a man who spent most of his time and money on "making face" and "saving face" would easily see through his friends when they put up a wealthy front that was all facade with nothing behind it. But not at all. Provided a man put on a good show of being cultured and wealthy and sophisticated, my Chinese friends usually thought very highly of him and took him to be a pillar of society and owner of an excellent character. All the same, any normal kid of twelve, here or anywhere else, could teach the Chinese a good deal about judging by appearances. He believes in "making face" and "saving face" even more than they do.

BY the way, Mr. Maugham says Dickens often met his grandmother, who had been a housemaid, so how could he have had snobbish yearnings? Of all the daft questions? Ask Thackeray if servants could ever be snobs! Or ask Marryat's bosun, Mr. Chucks, in "Petit Simple." You will remember that Mr. Chucks was almost too genteel to be true in a novel... he was more like something from real life. And when he finally became a Swedish count (Count Shucksen, was it?), he used to beat up waiters and footmen to show them how to respect the nobility. Marryat knew a thing or two. Mr. Maugham, on this particular subject, doesn't even know half a thing. I am not suggesting that Thackeray's servants and Marryat's bosun were only twelve years old! But I submit that a small boy could get snobbish ideas from his grandmother the housemaid and her husband the footman. I can't think of a better source of snobbery, really.

THROUGH WITH IT ALL

MY wife was talking with some contempt of a man who had refused to help some Worthwhile Project. "And do you know," says she, "he simply blew his nose of the whole affair." Don't laugh in your superior way. My wife can bring dead metaphors to life and give them infinite variety, and that's a lot more than you can do.

MINORITY ISSUE

THE FACTS

As a former newspaper man I should like to congratulate the Times for its good reporting of the Remembrance Day issue. When Vic Mackie phoned me I gave him the facts and you printed them. The editorial "Remembrance Day: Rumour and Fact" was certainly well done.

In this, as in all other matters, the Times shows an example of true journalism based on objective reporting.

BIBLICAL PARALLEL

Your editorial of Oct. 27th "Politics and Religion" is evidently written with political prejudice.

It is good practice to use quotations from the Bible—Jesus did so on many important occasions. It shows that such a person must read the Bible, especially if such quotations can be made accurately.

To accuse Premier Bennett of blasphemy is a very dangerous thing to do, especially when prejudice appears obvious. It is written in Matt. 9 that the Scribes considered Jesus as blasphemous, when he was entirely innocent. It is not desirable to join such company, as the Scribes of old.

"SUBSCRIBER"

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

Many thanks for your kindness in publishing my letter in the Daily Times. I have today received a very nice letter from Mrs. Reimer of 3431 Willeson Road, Victoria, B.C. which I am replying to immediately.

Letters to one (disabled as I am) mean a great deal, and I am most of the time in bed, and cannot get work, the excuse being "too old" or "too disabled", even though I could do much. Of course, I can't even write well or quickly as I am paralyzed in the right arm and leg.

I hope this letter from Mrs. Reimer will not be the only one, but how cheering it is, and I am very grateful to you for your help in publishing it. It has taken me quite a time to write this. Anyway, thank you so very much and God bless you.

'NATIONAL DISUNITY'

The three-man delegation which recently met with the B.C. Cabinet asked that no financial aid be given Catholic schools, mainly on the grounds that the separate school system has led to "the teaching of intolerance and national disunity."

If the Catholic school teaches religious intolerance, why do we find so many non-Catholic pupils in its classrooms and a waiting list of those wishing to avail themselves of a Christian education?

Certainly, the fact that Catholics are forced to bear a double tax burden, that Catholic schools must pay taxes, part of which go for the support of the public school system while they receive nothing in return, does not lead to unity and harmony, but Catholics would be most happy to have this matter righted.

Is it not prejudiced opposition, of which this is but an example, that is the cause of intolerance and the breeding ground of national disunity?

CONFLICT ON SCHOOLS

I shall be pleased if you would publish the following letter.

Re the brief presented by the three-man delegation to the cabinet on separate schools in B.C. (Victoria Times, October 26, page 11), it is difficult to reconcile the views of Rev. W. M. Robertson with those of Rev. Frank S. Morley, prominent minister in Christian education, who as a guest editor of your paper in the issue of July 8, 1950, wrote: "The saddest chapter in the story of the Protestant Church has been its surrender of the education of its children to the state with the consequent trend toward complete secularization. Religion as a result has small survival in the curriculum..." The Roman Catholic Church in demanding control of the education of its children is, from its point of view, in an impregnable position. To hand over its children to the state—and there are only the two alternatives, education by the state or the church—means destruction of the church and secularization of the child mind. The ignoring of religion is itself a condemnation implying to the child that religion is unimportant. The Roman Catholic Church believes that state education is a slippery descent to paganism. They have not been proven wrong!"

In view of such widely divergent views, the question naturally arises: who is representing what?

IN PRAISE OF SQUASH

Now that the Victoria Squash Rackets Club has been saved from closing for this season by the efforts and generosity of a few, we should ask ourselves why it is that we Western Canadians are lagging so far behind our brothers in the East, and our cousins in England and the U.S., where squash rackets is concerned. The club is now open for men and women of all ages, and the facilities are second to none on the Pacific Coast.

Squash is the fastest indoor game in the world, as well as being one of the easiest for a beginner to play. An expert has given the following reasons why the game is becoming one of the Western World's most popular activities in winter:

One can obtain all the exercise one needs in half an hour.

The game exercises all muscles (and helps to reduce weight!).

It is the ideal game for the busy man (or woman).

It is inexpensive.

The best tennis players find it improves their game if they play squash in the winter.

The game is of fascinating variety and interest.

In England there are more than 500 flourishing clubs, and at the ten courts at McGill University, Montreal, it is estimated that more than 1,000 students play every week. The only conceivable reason for the lack of support for the game in Victoria must be ignorance of the splendid facilities now again available for another season.

ANTI-CHISHOLM

In an otherwise excellent address, Dr. Brock Chisholm, speaking at the CCF Island Conference, made the remark that by lowering our standard of living and wholesaling our wealth to the underprivileged nations we could alleviate some of their suffering and strengthen the bonds of peace.

Surely a moment's reflection on this oft-repeated, well-intentioned but misguided proposal should instantly sink any hope that world prosperity has a footing in national almsgiving. In the first place, the really charitable hate almsgiving, and in the second place, any deal that is not of benefit to both parties will have as its outcome the grudge of the giver and the resentment of the receiver. Nations will never be saintly no matter how pious their citizens may be. As nations we will always be at each other's throat, not always with knives perhaps, but most certainly with abuse and vituperation at very frequent intervals. Charity has no place in international co-operation.

We cannot make the multitudes rich by aggravating any of the poverty of the few. Nor do the destitute masses want our charity. Strings wrap the bundles of charity, and they know it. We as Canadian business men should know that. If anyone gave us $50 we would be indebted far beyond the $50; we would have to trouble our repayment to repay the act of generosity. Money is the instrument to facilitate barter. It is not love and no pretty speech is going to make it a symbol of love.

An economic hand-out is a contradiction of terms. What is economic about lowering our standard of living? What is economic about trebling their cost of repayment? What is economic about giving or getting something for nothing?

India doesn't need charity. It needs business. That we need not insist on short-term demand notes goes without saying. Repayment is always long and slow in our best investments.

HUGH MILLAR.

As It Looks From Manitoba

Winnipeg Free Press

THE future political strategy of the Social Credit party was pretty clearly indicated by its recent British Columbia convention in Vancouver. In brief, as Premier W. A. C. Bennett said in a rousing pep talk to his followers, Social Credit claims full credit for the abundant prosperity of British Columbia and Alberta but blames the Federal government, in the next breath, for any local pockets of unemployment and for assuring a general depression in the future.

It is significant that Mr. Bennett spent almost all his time attacking Mr. St. Laurent, and urging the Social Credit party to prepare for the next Federal election.

"For the good of Canada," he said, "Social Credit should be the next government of Canada. If there is not a Social Credit government we face depression—the surpluses are already building up."

How Social Credit, by printing more money, would absorb such surpluses as the grain now filling our granaries Mr. Bennett did not explain. But he proposed gigantic public works to relieve unemployment—this though he has boasted in almost every former speech that his province, under his wise administration, is just about the most fortunate spot in the world.

If all this is contradictory and mainly designed to arouse a party convention, it is significant as showing where Social Credit's ambitions lie. They lie in Ottawa.

When he came to discuss the financial relations between the nation and the provinces, Mr. Bennett really let himself go. He bitterly condemned Mr. St. Laurent for conferring on taxation questions with Premier Duplessis, and for making "special deals" in the "neutral corner of Quebec." As there have been no such deals this remark made no sense, but it probably sounded good at a family party.

What purpose a Federal-provincial conference on tax matters would serve, lacking any prospect of agreement between the Federal and Quebec governments, Mr. Bennett did not say; nor did he bother to observe that if any agreement is reached it will have to be submitted publicly to Parliament. Or if there is to be any general revision of the existing arrangements between the Federal and provincial governments, it will be submitted to all of them.

None of these obvious facts apparently concerns Mr. Bennett. His concern, after establishing a political base in British Columbia, is to advance on Ottawa at the next Federal election. He speaks increasingly in the manner of a man who intends at the first opportunity to move to Ottawa himself as the national leader of his party.

QUITE NATURAL

It is unnecessary to look for artificial causes of bad weather. In 1903, the worst year on record, there were no atom bombs and the Wright brothers had only just built the first aeroplane. Many of you will remember how, in the twenties, broadcasting was blamed for both rain and drought... and long before that, railways were accused of making rain by blowing steam into the air.

DUNCAN GIVEN B.C. CHAMBER PRIZE FOR '53

DUNCAN—The B.C. gavel-of-the-year award won by Duncan Chamber of Commerce for its work in 1953 was presented Monday by H. C. Stone, B.C. executive member, to B. W. W. Cocks, 1954 president.

The B.C. honor was shared by Duncan with Vernon Chamber of Commerce. The Duncan group last year erected a modern three-unit office building by voluntary donations of cash, materials and labor and in other ways staged a marked revival, which included an increase to 185 members.

City Works Crew At Nanaimo Wins Council's Praise

NANAIMO—City engineering staff and works crews got a pat on the back Monday night from Ald. George Bryce, who told the council that 9½ miles of the 13½-mile-long water distribution system extension in the Brechin area had now been completed.

"A great deal of credit is due to the administrative staff of the city works department and to the employees—the men in the trenches—for the fine job they are doing," said Ald. Bryce. "The civic employees have shown me that we don't need to go to outside contractors for any job they feel they can handle. They have now proved what they can do. In addition to the pipe, they have installed 50 hydrants, and the entire job should be completed before the end of the year, providing the weather is favorable." Ald. Bryce said.

Council voted $500 to the Ontario hurricane relief fund.

Veteran Coastal Pilot Retiring At Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Capt. Andrew Johnstone, veteran deep-sea pilot of the B.C. Pilotage Authority, will retire today.

Stationed in Nanaimo since the mid-'30s, he was well known to shipmasters from all over the world, and took ships between all Vancouver Island and lower mainland ports. He has been active in community life since taking up residence here. His home is at 45 Stewart Avenue.

B.C. Towns Reject New Liquor Outlets

ARMSTRONG, B.C. (CP)—The cities of Armstrong and Enderby and the municipality of Spallumcheen have decisively voted against the establishment of further liquor outlets in their communities.

In a plebiscite Tuesday voters voted against all four types of liquor outlets: public houses, dining room, dining lounge and lounge.

Dust Control Plans Show Good Progress

Brentwood Chamber Told Cement Company Installing Arresters at Bamberton Plant

BRENTWOOD—B.C. Cement Co. Ltd., has installed three dust arresters at its Bamberton plant, W. F. Grafton told Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce at its Monday meeting here.

"They are still working on it," Mr. Grafton reported for the chamber's dust nuisance committee.

A. Cuthbert said he had talked with the cement company officials and they had told him that the arresters "system" to control the dust at the plant could cost $250,000 and take two and one-half years to complete. They had been pleased with the "catch" in recent tests, he said.

GOOD PROFIT
Total receipts for the October community fair was $409.58, it was reported by Ed Logan. In adopting his report the chamber moved a vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the event. George Moody reported that the district had gone over the top in raising its quota for the Community Chest, with a total collection of $2,164.10.

A letter was read from Col. Keith Dixon, of the department of transport, relative to complaints registered concerning boats moored for more than 24 hours at government wharves. He explained the trouble cropped up every year during the tourist season.

NO OVERCROWDING
He had visited the government wharves in the district and had not found them overcrowded, he reported. A large sign had been posted informing the public of the 24-hour limit. If the condition still existed in the future, Col. Dixon stated he would take more definite action.

G. F. Dunn, of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, addressed the chamber members on policy statements and resolutions dealt with at the B.C. Chamber of Commerce convention held in Vancouver.

Mr. Dunn represented the Central Saanich chamber, with voting powers, at the convention.

HIGHWAY BOARD
Central Saanich chamber had supported a resolution urging the government to create a highway commission with powers to map out proposed roads in the province and make recommendations.

The Vancouver convention, Mr. Dunn explained, finally amended the resolution which called for the setting up of a highway planning board to rule on highways most needed in the years ahead.

NANAIMO—Governor for Lions International for the district including B.C., Washington, and northern Idaho, Wilfred Munton, praised the Nanaimo club Tuesday night while on an official visit to the local organization.

Gordon Hargraves, local Lions International councillor, made a presentation to Mr. Munton.

Jack Cooper, Victoria's special representative for Lions International, complimented the Nanaimo club on its efficient operation and reports given by Frank Wilfert.

Nanaimo Man Given Month For Perjury

Testified in Traffic Case

NANAIMO — County Court Judge L. A. Hanna on Tuesday sentenced Gordon Stanley Doward to one month in Oakalla for perjury here.

In passing sentence, Judge Hanna said: "Perjury is a breach of the foundation of our society. Unless we guard the oath jealously we have nothing left."

Doward was charged after he gave evidence on oath at the police court trial last August of Donald Henry McNeil. McNeil had been charged with driving a car while his license was under suspension. Doward swore that he, and not McNeil, had been driving the car when it was stopped by RCMP on a routine check.

Doward made a statement later after the perjury charge had been laid. He admitted that he lied for McNeil to prevent him from going to jail, saying "I was sorry for him."

'SORRY JOB'
Robert Weir, Nanaimo lawyer acting for Doward, made a plea for a light sentence.

"He lied with a mistaken idea of loyalty, not understanding fully the importance of this act. In the past he has tried, and in the future will try again, to be a useful citizen," he said.

Judge Hanna complimented Mr. Weir, saying: "You made the best of a sorry job. But the whole procedure of our law is based on the oath. We are sworn to tell the truth and must do so. I'm not contending that we all do."

Addressing the prisoner Judge Hanna said: "I am sentencing you to one month in prison to vindicate the law and show that the public cannot go to court of law and take oath lightly."

'Phone Crew Finishes Job At Brentwood

A B.C. Telephone Company crew has completed a $12,000 project in Keating to provide outside plant facilities for residents in the Verdier Avenue area at Brentwood.

The project included installation of some 1,865,000 feet of wire in cable.

Cable was strung on Stelly's Cross Road from West Saanich Road to East Saanich Road; south along East Saanich Road from Stelly's Cross Road to the Keating telephone office.

Art Perry was foreman of the eight-man heavy gang on the job.

Keating telephones total 739, today, or more than double the 333 phones in use in May, 1945.

Campbell River Observer Corps Member Retires

CAMPBELL RIVER — Mrs. L. Proteau, member of the Ground Observer Corps here for the last two years, has had to retire because of illness.

Tribute was paid to her work by Mrs. Lloyd Leishman, assistant regional supervisor, who said Mrs. Proteau "logged every aircraft flying over Campbell River during her waking hours since the GOC was formed here."

Mrs. Leishman appealed to recruits to give immediate relief to the 44 active members who are maintaining a 24-hour daily watch at the observation tower on top of the school.

The watch was ordered by the Vancouver filter centre as part of an exercise begun Nov. 1.

Commonwealth Talks Decision Imminent

OTTAWA (BUP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said today an announcement on the subject of a commonwealth prime minister's conference would be made in London Thursday.

"Gassy stomach embarrassed me" says man who loves his food.

"I'm a big fellow, with a big appetite. But after a good meal I used to have gas on the stomach so bad I couldn't sleep, belching and burning. A doctor suggested Digestif Rennie Tablets. Now, after a big meal—I suck one or two Rennies. If you're embarrassed by burps and belches, try Rennies."—William J. Cook, Waterloo, Ont.
"Don't let your stomach or indigestion spoil a good meal—suck a Digestif Rennie Tablet. Rennies are gentle, with a drip-by-drip action that neutralizes excess acids—soothes upset, gassy stomach. 25c at drugists. 35-¢

He declined to comment directly on rumors that a conference has been scheduled for early January.
"But Prime Minister Winston Churchill will make an announcement Thursday in the House of Commons that will deal with the subject of the rumors," he said.

Government sources here indicated that the conference—originally planned for mid-year 1955—might be held before or during the second week in January. At that time most commonwealth prime ministers would be able to get away from home problems.

TORONTO (BUP)—Eddie Milner's aging grey gelding Count Steel fought off several challenges yesterday and arrived home by three lengths to win the Port Perry's featured sixth race at Dufferin.

TIMES CARRIER BOYS winners of a recent subscription contest and members of the Ace Sales Club, were guests of Odeon Theatre manager Elliot Brown Tuesday at a showing of "The Caine Mutiny." About a year ago, the boys carried a serialized version of the movie, published in The Times, into thousands of Victoria homes. Mr. Brown is seen above welcoming some of the 125 carriers who attended the film.

How Many A-Blasts Is Too Many? About 1,000 Says Ottawa Expert

OTTAWA (BUP)—The world had better start counting its hydrogen bomb explosions very carefully.

A government scientist indicated Tuesday that hydrogen bomb tests would have to stop before the 1,000th detonation, because their cumulative effect on the atmosphere would spell disaster for the human race. Radio-active dust released by H-bomb explosions remains potent for about 5,000 years, so far as scientists can now estimate. As more and more bombs are exploded, the strength of the dust builds up.

By the time 1,000 detonations—or less—have been made, the world would be enveloped in a deadly rain of radio-active dust obliterating everything.

TOLERANCE LEVEL
The government scientist made his statement in elaboration of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's comment in the British Commons that "an undue number" of nuclear explosions "might have very serious effects" on the world.

The tolerance level, before the atmosphere would become lethal, was "in the neighborhood of 1,000 bombs," the national research council expert said. But he added that it "still is safe to blow the odd one off."

The defense research board makes tests of radioactivity at Shirley's Bay, about 12 miles from Ottawa. Its findings showed traces of radioactive dust in rain as recently as September.

Officials said earlier that this dust was caused by nuclear tests in Russia. Indications were that the bombs were baby atomic bombs for tactical use on battlefields.

Officially, however, there were no comments from Canada and the United States on recent London reports that Russia had such bombs. The tests at Shirley's Bay indicated that Russia had been engaged in a series of atomic tests for major character.

The radioactivity here was reported to be so slight as not to constitute a health menace.

Ontario Premier Joins Demand For New Parleys on Tax Pacts

TORONTO (BUP)—Ontario was pledged with other provinces today to ask for a new federal-provincial conference on tax-rental agreements, leaving Quebec the lone holdout.

Premier Leslie Frost, who held back until 1952 before signing a pact to allow Ottawa to use provincial tax fields in lieu of subsidies, on Tuesday echoed the call for new conferences by other provincial leaders following last month's meetings between Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec.

Frost described present arrangements as "shotgun agreements" which are "a stopgap" and "seldom of any value."

Quebec is the only province which has not signed an agreement with Ottawa. Earlier this year Quebec introduced a provincial income tax, of which only a fraction is deductible from federal taxes.

"Now is the time," Frost said, "that we should be considering in an intelligent, impartial sort of way the powers of our various levels of government and their fiscal positions to carry these things out."

Frost spoke at the convention of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association in Toronto.

BAD RECORD MOTORISTS FACE NEW LICENSE PERILS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Convictions on minor traffic violations will be filed with the motor vehicle branch in Victoria and may be the deciding factor in cases where drivers' license suspensions are considered, the police court clerk said here Tuesday.

William Edwards said in police court the violations, such as running a red light, failing to yield right of way to a pedestrian and stopping in restricted zones, will be added to the driver's record. Then, when the motor vehicle branch is considering a license suspension, it will have all the facts.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by The Sun-Citizen (Mother of 5)

Is there a dog in your family circle? Getting the pup acquainted with baby is easier if you first introduce the pet while your child is in his crib. Baby feels safer behind the bars—can learn to love the puppy little by little—and vice versa. And such very happy loves are established between a boy (or a girl) and a dog.

Happy loves of a baby for his meals can be established if you serve a variety of foods that look good as well as taste good. Easy, with Gerber's Strained Foods. Over 33 varieties of good-tasting Fruits, Vegetables, Meats, Dinners and Desserts—all specially processed to preserve true-to-nature colors, naturally mouth-watering flavors, as well as a high retention of wholesome food values. All pureed to a wonderful smoothness that feels particularly pleasing to delicate tongues.

Bright idea division. An inventive mother offers this helpful hint: soakers made of wool soon discolor and stiffen. So make them of terry cloth. Every bit as absorbent... and launder to lily-white and cloud-soft in the washing machine.

Contributors corner. Many of the hints in this column come from mothers just like you. If you have any tips you'd like to share, do send them to me: Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 68, Toronto 18, Canada.

Midday magic. Soup for baby's lunch—delicious and nutritious—and easy to serve especially when you use Gerber's Strained Vegetable-Meat Dinners, by simply adding a small amount of milk or water. For these hearty dishes combine three important food groups: vegetables, meats and cereal. All carefully blended for a delightful variety of savory flavors. 5 Strained Dinners. 5 Junior dinners for tots with a few teeth.

QUAKERS GET FORBES; BENTLEY JOINS CLUB

SASKATOON, (CP)—Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League announced Tuesday the purchase of defenseman Jake Forbes from New Westminster Royals.

The deal was a straight cash transaction. Forbes will make his debut with Saskatoon here Thursday night against Vancouver Canucks. Max Bentley and Ray Manson will also be seeing their first action with the Quakers in the Thursday game.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Thoughts that pass in the night: Would it be presuming too much from this distance to suggest that Winnipeg Blue Bombers don't appear to rate in the same class with Montreal Alouettes as far as the Grey Cup final is concerned? And wouldn't it also appear that Edmonton Eskimos would make a better western representative, if they can get by the Bombers, which they should.

But remember, wasn't it a year ago that the same situation presented itself to the Eskis and they blew the duke in the riotous final game of the series?

Gee, and wasn't it a year ago that the Cougars and Saskatoon Quakers were in about the same position in the Western Hockey League?

But has anyone noticed the change in tactics of coach Billy Ray this year?

The Cougar mentor seems to have tossed his controversial defensive style out the window and given the Cats free rein. It's interesting, and could be more productive, too, hard-to-get defensemen being as invisible as ever.

Archie Is Broke Again

Time may have mellowed the product—at least it has aged it another year—but where was Archie Moore (and honorable Archie Moore about this time last year? He was broke, they say, and asking for a championship bout with heavyweight king Rocky Marciano. Since then Archie has knocked a couple of unknowns about and topped off his year's work by belting over Harold Johnson, his chief competitor for light-heavyweight honors.

That has kept him in taxi money, but apparently Archie uses more taxi than most and now is about to start hitchhiking again. Word is that Archie is, when well-heeled, a hail fellow, well met.

But he can also split noses with the best, and as Rocky splits easy, Archie figures that at 185 pounds he would only have to split the Brooklyn Blockbuster a couple of pounds at most and, once split, Rocky could be spilled.

Economically Sound, That's Certain

At least Archie's got the right approach. He's his own tub thumper and explains his preference for a match with Marciano this way: "If a public demand can be created, then the economics of the situation will force Rocky to fight me."

One thing is certain. Moore can hit and Rocky can be hit. The only problem is that Rocky has a habit of hitting oftener and harder than most. Still, Rocky would be willing to go for the money, although Moore needs it more than he does. He figures his next meal to come from an evening engagement with a fellow named Archie McBride next Monday.

This could be the build-up, except that Rocky's manager Al Weill is on record as once saying: "Moore is the last guy we'll fight."

That's what Archie figures, too, and his reasoning appears of the same theme.

It was just a year ago, too, that Ivan Irwin went up from the Vancouver Canucks to the New York Rangers. Few figured the ex-Cougar would stick, the Canadiens having given up on him, but coach Muzz Patrick seems to have the happy faculty of instilling his confidence in a player's ability into the particular player in question. That must be his secret. The Rangers didn't reveal many others when they played here.

Empire Title Match Believed Possible

TORONTO (CP)—Max Waxman, 20 years business manager of former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, said Tuesday he believes he can arrange a British Empire heavyweight championship match here between Empire champion Don Cockell and the winner of the Canadian heavyweight title scrap here Nov. 9.

Waxman, in Toronto for the Canadian boxing title bout between champion Earl Walls and James J. Parker, said at a press luncheon: "I know that with the help of Dempsey and a cheque book I could get Don Cockell of Britain here for an Empire title fight with the winner between Walls and Parker."

Frank Tunney, Toronto matchmaker who is promoting the Walls-Parker fight, said Waxman also is interested in arranging a world heavyweight championship fight here.

Tunney said that if Waxman likes what he sees at the fight here Nov. 9, he will recommend that Dempsey try to arrange a match between the winner and champion Rocky Marciano.

Dempsey is interested in the possibilities and would join Tunney as co-promoter of such a bout, Tunney said.

Tripucka Sets New WIFU Passing Mark

REGINA (CP)—Frank Tripucka of Saskatchewan Roughriders, the leading passer in the Western Interprovincial Football Union this year, set a league record for percentage of passes completed in the regular season. Statistics released today by league statistician Bill Hawley showed Tripucka heaved the most passes, 259, and completed the most, 152, for a completion average of 58.7 per cent. The new mark shakes the record of 58.5 per cent established a year ago by Rider coach Frank Filchuck who completed 62 of 106 passes.

Last year Tripucka, cut by Riders on the Oct. 1 import deadline, completed 59 of 94 passes for an average of 62 per cent. However, a passer must have the pass at least 100 times to qualify for a record.

Jackie Parker of Edmonton Eskimos had a completion percentage of 65.4, but he only threw 55 passes, 36 of which were completed. While Tripucka was just under the 100 mark a year ago and Filchuck was just over it, Jack Jacobs of Winnipeg Blue Bombers completed 146 of 252 aeriels in 1953 for an average of 57.9 per cent, now the third highest official mark in league history.

Mrs. Derek Rhys-Jones of Colwood took both low gross and low net honors in Monday's 15-and-under handicap golf medal round at Colwood.

Mrs. Jones shot an 85-81. Second low net went to Mrs. H. McIntyre of Colwood and Mrs. H. Husband of Victoria Club. Mrs. McIntyre had a score of 87.5-82 and Mrs. Husband, 92-10-82.

Hey! What Happens Now?

The Victoria and District Basketball season opened Tuesday night at S. J. Willis Junior High School with underdog Vampires scoring a 55-51 overtime upset over favored Individuals in senior B men's action. The game was easily the highlight of a three-game card, with Vampires coming from behind to take the win and start the season on a successful note. Here, Al Olmstead of Vampires glances frantically in an attempt to find a teammate as Individuals' Vince Clarkson (77) moves in to check the Vampire player. (Times photo by Strickland).

ROUGHER, TOO

NHL Tougher Suggests Wing Boss

The National Hockey League is a tougher circuit than it was last season says jolly Jack Adams, general manager of the defending champion Red Wings—"and rougher, too."

"They tell me there isn't as much bodychecking around the league, Adams said when he came to Toronto for tonight's initial Maple Leaf Gardens' meeting between Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs.

"If that's so then they must all be throwing their best Sunday punch at us."

Leaf manager Hap Day apparently has thoughts along the rougher-tough line, too. But his comparisons refer to Toronto's ups and downs, not the league.

"When you guys concentrate on the man we're okay," he told his charges during workouts. "But when you go for the puck we're in trouble."

LEAFS NEED GOALS

Adams, whose Red Wings have given up the familiar surroundings of first place to Montreal Canadiens, said Leafs' defensive record is fine but "they need a few more goals."

"They'll be pretty good when they get straightened away," he added.

A win tonight would move Wings within a point of Canadiens while a Leaf victory would narrow to two points the margin third-place New York holds. The rest of the league is "idle tonight."

MONTREAL COACH EYES PLAYOFF

Als 50-50 Choice—Walker

By W. R. WHEATLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Douglas Headhead Walker lifted his gaze from a play diagram Tuesday and said he thinks his Montreal Alouettes have a "50-50 chance" against Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four football play-off.

This could be taken as an understatement since Alouettes have already defeated the Ti-Cats three times and dropped one game by only a single point. But since then Alouettes have lost Harold Patterson, 22-year-old star from the University of Kansas. Patterson broke his right ankle last Saturday in a game against Toronto Argonauts.

Walker was ready to admit this was a tough blow and that he considers Patterson a top-notch, all-around player. At the same time the coach made it plain that he isn't selling his team short because of the loss of one man.

"We have Ray Poole for end and Larry Grigg for defensive duty," said Walker.

Poole, a former Giant, is in his second season with the Als and Grigg is a newcomer this season from University of Oklahoma. Asked directly what he

MANTLE CLEARED BY MEDICS

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees' long-hitting outfielder, has undergone another checkup on his injured knee and received a clean bill of health, the Yankee management said on Tuesday.

Mantle, who injured a cartilage in his right knee during the 1951 World Series and subsequently had it operated on, never has gone to a Yankee training camp in good condition. Next spring, barring further difficulties, he will be able to go to top speed from the start.

12 Deaths Attributed To Grid

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Twelve players have died directly as a result of football injuries and three indirectly at the half-way point of the current season, Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood reported Tuesday.

Dr. Eastwood, dean of men at Los Angeles State College, annually compiles football fatalities for the American Football Coaches Association.

He said that direct fatalities reported through October 29 showed seven high school fatalities, two college deaths, one to an athletic club player and two to boys playing sandlot football.

The indirect deaths were due to two heart attacks and a case of bone cancer from an injury suffered last year.

Eastwood said at this time last year, 11 direct deaths were reported. The most disturbing increase this season he said was in the high school ranks, which recorded only five deaths at mid-season last year.

CHAMP'S REPUTATION AT STAKE

Bobo Gets Tough Test

RICHMOND, Calif. (UP)—World middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson takes the final tune-up for his Dec. 15 title defense tonight when he trades punches with slugger Garth Panter of Salt Lake City in a 10-round bout.

The fight, nationally televised without a local blackout, is expected to attract about $10,000 worth of customers into the new Richmond Memorial Auditorium.

Olson was expected to weigh in today at around 165—five pounds over the middleweight limit, but reputed to be his best for hard-hitting. In previous tune-up fights since winning the world crown a year ago, the champion has won everything with knockouts—over Joey Rindone, Jesse Turner, etc.

However, in Panter he meets a real slugger. This lad has scored 40 knockouts in 57 victories, while losing 16 in his career. He has fought Olson before, too—losing a close decision to him a couple of years ago at Butte, Mont.

He holds victories over such well-ranked stars as Pierre Langlois, Walter Cartier and Norman Hayes and definitely can be expected to punish Bobo at some time during the evening.

Royals Like Cats, Show Why Tonight

Cougars Drop Another; Stamps Win

Westminster 5, Victoria 3
Calgary 6, Vancouver 5

Victoria Cougars' role in the Western Hockey League race may be nebulous to date as far as the Cougars are concerned, but to New Westminster Royals the Cougars are money in the bank.

Thanks mainly to the Cougars, the Royals today lead the WHL by three points with the champion Calgary Stampede in second place.

Royals Tuesday night collected their fourth straight dividend from the Cougars by virtue of a 5-3 triumph, and with eight points in four games, it's quite obvious that, if it weren't for the Cougars, the Royals wouldn't be enjoying the lofty rating they do.

The Stamps, meanwhile, edged Vancouver Canucks, 6-5, at Calgary, to stay close to the pace.

GOOD START

Cougars broke quickly as has been their habit this season and in seven minutes had a 2-0 lead on goals by Mark Marquess and Doug Macauley.

But this only stirred the Royals to retaliation. And before the period ended, Gordon Fashoway and Blinky Boyce had evened the count.

Royals went ahead, never to look back, in the second when Ollie Dorohoy scored. Marquess got his second to tie the score and to give the Cougars hope early in the third frame, but coach Max McNab broke the spell, at 6-4 and Fashoway made the result certain during Bill Davidson's penalty at 14:27.

HERE TONIGHT

Only 1,000 fans witnessed the contest, the second in succession between the two clubs, the rivalry, which so far has been a cake-walk for the Royals, resuming at Memorial Arena tonight. Game time is 8:30.

The pattern was similar at Calgary where the Canucks barged into 3-0 lead only to see the Stamps square it before the period ended. Steve Wittik rapped home the tie-breaker for the Stamps in the third session, George Pargeter getting what proved to be the winner.

Former Cougar netminder, Ralph Almas, played his first game for the Stampede. He was shaky at the start, but tightened up in the late going.

CUBS HERE SATURDAY

Drakes Won't Risk Crown

Oak Bay Drakes, British Columbia intermediate Canadian football champions, will not put their newly-won title-up for grabs this Saturday when they meet Vancouver Cubs in a challenge game at Macdonald Park.

Team official Don Higgs said today that it was decided at a Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League meeting Tuesday night that the title would not be at stake for Saturday's game.

Higgs said that, as there is no intermediate league in Vancouver and no deadline for the signing of new players, Cubs could bolster their club considerably for the game.

Local teams have not been able to sign any players since the Oct. 9 league deadline.

Drakes won the city and provincial titles last Saturday by whipping Mayo Vampires, 20-5, in the second game of a two-game total-point series.

AUTOMATIC CHAMPS

Drakes won the series, 33-5, and with the local league the only registered intermediate league in B.C., Drakes automatically became provincial title.

Cubs, a farm team for the B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, have a strong club and are expected to show well here Saturday.

Drakes will again be without the services of hard-running Don Donahue, but will have Larry Brownlee back in strip. Brownlee has been out of action with a twisted knee.

Game time Saturday is 2.

U.S. Cage Coach Worried About Brazil

RIO-DE-JANEIRO, Brazil (UP)—Warren Womble, coach of the heavily-favored United States team in the world amateur basketball championships, said today he wished there were more small players on his team.

"Back in the United States, height means a lot," Womble said. "Here it can be almost a handicap. Our big boys are fast but not as fast as men three or four inches shorter."

Womble's team, the Peoria, Ill. Caterpillars of the National Industrial League, currently is tied with Brazil for first place in the round-robin final round of the tournament. Both teams are unbeaten in seven games and each has two games to play, including what shapes up now as the title-deciding clash with each other Friday night.

There were no games last night. When play resumes tonight, both the U.S. and Brazilian teams will be idle while Uruguay plays Israel, Canada meets China and the Philippines play France.

Womble said the speed of the Brazilian team, which receives tremendous vocal support from

Begg Sporting Best Pin Mark

By RON COULTER

Four city veteran tenpin stars are quietly going about waging a heated war for recognition as the top average big-ball trundler in Victoria.

Strathcona alley boss Roy Begg is currently leading the race, hitting for a lofty average of 190 pins per game in Strathcona Mixed Tenpin League action.

Strong contenders for leading honors are Ron Wilson at 186 and Len Murrant and Wilbur Webb at 185. Wilson and Murrant hold their high averages in Gibson's Senior Tenpin League, while Webb leads the commercial section.

Other top averages in the senior division are held by Ken Munn and Bill Coates, 183; Webb and Bill Norris, 181, and Wilf Johnston, Bill Holness, Nip Sage and George Brown at 180.

Ed Simmons and Hugh Bryan are averaging 180 in the commercial league.

Munn was the big man Tuesday night in the senior section with singles of 247, 201 and 181 for a 629 triple. His 247 single tied a league record formerly held solely by Alex Quinn.

Coates, 351; Johnston, 371; George Motion, 363; Wilson, 558; J. Ferrie, 552, and Webb, at 551 had other commendable throws.

Jack Bacon, 221; Johnston, 213; Nip Sage, 205; Webb, 264; Ferrie and Simmons, 203, and Coates at 201 shot other leading singles.

Wilson's team swept three games from Ming's Kitchen to vault into a deadlock for first place at 17 wins. Willshire Co. is third with 16 wins, followed by Ming's and Cruikshank's Men's Shop at nine, and Nicol's with two.

Going into action tonight, Cigarette Vending, Dockyard and Tillcum's are deadlocked for the commercial leadership with 12 points. Shaw Sheet Metal follow closely with 11.

Kitta Shaw pounded out a 199 single and 537 total Monday night in Gibson's Major Women's Tenpin League, while Jessie Howard shot a 200 singleton.

Blondie Robinson again paced city fivepinners. Rolling at Capital City, Robinson racked up a series of 858 in the major section, 760 in the mixed action and 703 in the singles classic.

Other highs in the major section were rolled by Don Corbett, 824; Reg Waggoner, 779; Cec McKee, 764; Ted Benoit, 754; Wilf Smith, 721; Jerry Lawrence, 710; Bob Miller, 702, and Stan Bell at 701.

Harry Cool paced the classic league with a lofty 895 triple, while Corbett, 885; C. Wallis, 842; Bob Elliott, 821; Ken Smith, 796; McKinnon, 740; Eric Chayko, 728, and John Middlemass, 722, followed.

Marge Deslaurier shot a 767 single to lead mixed fivepinners. Chuck Callow posted a 765 and Reg Waggoner a 740.

At Strathcona, Dave Paterson started with three strikes, spared the fourth frame and then struck out for a big 410. He, concluded action with a 780 triple.

Flingin' Frankie Sticks With Riders for Third Term

REGINA (CP)—Frank Filchok, the coach who couldn't quit, will be back with his Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1955 to make another attack on the Grey Cup.

Team president Dr. Beattie Martin announced Tuesday night, following a meeting of the club executive, that Filchok has signed for next season, his third with the club.

The word came less than 24 hours after Saskatchewan dreams of a Toronto cup trip had been shattered by Winnipeg Blue Bombers who trampled over Riders in the semifinal on their way to the Western Interprovincial Football Union final against Edmonton Eskimos.

It was a bitter pill for Filchok. His squad had crested the league standings most of the season and even when it was relegated to second place by Eskimos in the stretch, many were predicting Saskatchewan would take the play-offs.

But Filchok's fighters got no further east than Winnipeg. The same thing had happened in the 1953 playoffs. Riders, second in the standings, were ousted by third-place Winnipeg by a smaller margin this time, but Winnipeg got the points that mattered.

Filchok got even closer in 1952 when, in his first full year as a coach, he steered Edmonton Eskimos to their first western championship for 30 years. But Eskies were beaten in the Grey Cup final by Toronto Argonauts.

Filchok is a popular coach with fans and footballers alike. Western sports writers acknowledged his cagey handling of young Canadian players and uncanny ability to size up the possibilities of a situation by naming him the league's all-star coach on 11 of 12 ballots this year.

Several other offers from pro Canadian clubs were reported to have come his way recently while it was rumored he also received bids to return to the United States to coach.

Filchok, now 38, came to Canada in 1947 after starring with Washington Redskins and New York Giants of the National Football League.

TIME OUT!

"Pretty good action tonight... considering the game hasn't started yet!"

Packers Keep OSHL Lead; V's Triumph

The struggle for supremacy in the Okanagan Senior Hockey League remains unchanged today following victories by Kelowna Packers and Penticton V's Tuesday night.

Packers took a 5-2 decision from Kamloops Elks to remain one point ahead of Penticton. The Allan Cup champion V's, sparked by Jim Fairburn's two goals, downed Vernon Canadians 3-1 in the OSHL's other game.

Meanwhile, the situation in the Western International League is somewhat confused following Trail Smoke Eaters' 6-4 win over Nelson Maple Leafs Tuesday night.

After the game, Dr. Joe Vingo, WIHL president, announced that the contest might be thrown out because both teams disregarded his orders to limit their rosters to 12 players. The two clubs used 15 men apiece.

Reynolds' Career Possibly Ended

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A slip in the shower last week may cost Aille Reynolds, the New York Yankee super chief, the remainder of his pitching career. It was being conjectured Tuesday that the famous fireballer told the Daily Oklahoman the index finger of his right hand was severely cut in the accident last Thursday at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Reynolds, 37, had returned from deer hunting. While taking a shower the mat slipped throwing him into the glass enclosure. A specialist performed an 80-minute operation on the finger which suffered a bone-deep gash. Skin had to be grafted over the cut.

Johnson Bids For A's Again

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The Philadelphia Athletics' merry-go-round picked up steam again today with the appearance of Arnold Johnson, Chicago industrialist, on the scene and time running out for any transfer of the club to Kansas City.

Johnson left Chicago by plane last night, headed for Philadelphia, but his hotel said early today that he had not checked in.

But he was certain to be closeted with the Macks on arrival, hopeful of completing the deal which rumor said he very nearly completed last week before he returned to Chicago to vote on election day.

While Johnson was on the fringe, temporarily, creditors of the Mack family were in consultation with the Athletics' attorneys. The debts for the poverty stricken club include a $1,800,000 mortgage on Connie Mack Stadium.

All persons interested in the deal eyed the Dec. 1 deadline for any transfer of the Athletics' franchise under baseball rules. Even if Johnson can close a deal with the Mack family, it would take another league meeting for approval, according to an American League spokesman in Chicago.

Several members of the syndicate of Philadelphia businessmen who failed to win league approval to buy the team last week said they "still are interested" but there has been no regrouping of buyers.

NEW YORK (AP)—Summer Tan, winner of the $269,965 Garden State, the world's richest horse race, was seriously ill in his stall at Belmont Park Tuesday.

Veterinarians diagnosed the ailment as an embolism blood clot in the arteries supplying the colic's intestines and said the next few hours will tell whether he will recover.

Summer Tan took a place among the season's leading two-year-olds by Saturday's victory.

FOOTBALL TURNABOUT
Canadian Gridder Starring in U.S.

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—A 20-year-old Canadian aptly nicknamed the "Calgary comet" is helping the undefeated Montana State College football team write the best record in the school's history. It is unbeaten in seven games this season.

Harvey Wylie, 165-pound half-back, has already cracked the school's modern scoring record with 88 points this season. He ran back the second half kickoff against Idaho State Saturday for 100 yards and a touchdown to highlight the Bobcats' capture of the Rocky Mountain conference football championship for the first time since 1946.

Wylie was the key figure in MSC's two victories this season over Idaho State, champion of the league for the past two years. He scored 49 of his team's 61 points against the Idahoans. Wylie had never played football American style until he entered Montana State three years ago. Now in his junior year,

Eskimo Coach Cautious, But Quietly Confident

EDMONTON (CP)—No strangers in Grey Cup shadow, Edmonton Eskimos go into the Western Interprovincial Football Union final Saturday with a coach who combines the extremes of his two predecessors.

Frank Filchok, who coached the Eskies into the cup finals two years ago, was an old pro. Darrell Royal, who got his team as far as the league finals last year, was a clean-cut college man.

This year's pilot is a mixture of both. Frank Pop Ivy is an old pro and was a college man before coming here.

Thirty-eight-year-old Ivy, former pro end and assistant to the head coach at University of Oklahoma, has the same problem as Royal did last year—Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

But Edmonton supporters are hoping for a change in the 1953 script which has been repeated so far this season.

BEATEN BY BOMBERS

Eskimos finished at the top of the league last year with Saskatchewan Roughriders second and Bombers third. Winnipeg bumped Riders into the also-ran category in the semifinal.

Eskimo fans hope the Blue

Bombers don't use their club again as transportation to Toronto.

Coach Ivy is cautious about the Eskies winning the best-of-three final which starts Saturday.

"We can win if we get the breaks. But we're not as good as everybody seems to think."

The Eskies got a bye into the finals as a result of their first place finish in league standings. And now they are in the process of shaking off a week of inactivity.

The nightly shakedown have been rigorous. Spirits are high and the work rough. The squad was divided into teams Tuesday night, one quarterbacked by Bernie Faloney and the other by Jackie Parker.

Injuries are not too numerous.

Defensive back Ray Wilsey, out for a month with a broken arm, is a doubtful starter. His arm was back, in a cast Tuesday night. But offensive guard Frank Morris, hampered by an injury did a bit of running around the field.

MONTREAL—The name of the new hotel which the Canadian National Railways is building in Montreal will be the Queen Elizabeth.

Announcement of the name follows receipt of a letter from Governor General Vincent Massey to Donald Gordon, CNA president, informing him that "Her Majesty the Queen has been graciously pleased to grant permission that the new Canadian National Railways hotel in Montreal should be called the Queen Elizabeth."

Mr. Gordon said that from the day when it was made known that the company would build a large convention hotel in Montreal, hundreds of people had written him suggesting names for it. "By far the largest number wished the name to be identified with the Crown," he said.

The 1,200-room Queen Elizabeth Hotel will be the largest in the commonwealth. It is hoped to have it ready for occupancy in 1957.

20,800 Names Expected on City Vote List

Victoria's voters' list may have 20,800 names by the time it is posted, Dec. 15.

M. F. Hunter, city clerk and returning officer, revealed today that 519 persons registered as either licensees, householder or spouse during September and October, when the list was open to revision.

This was considerably less than last year when 750 persons registered in the same two-month period despite the fact that there was no provision then for spouse voters.

"Spouse" is a new classification to cover husbands or wives of property owners.

There were 20,372 names on the last voters' list.

Registration of voters ended Monday.

Union Group Opposes Kaiser Dam Project

VANCOUVER (CP)—Members of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council Tuesday night approved a resolution opposing the proposed construction of a low-level dam on the Arrow Lakes by Kaiser Aluminum Company.

Members said the province's power potential should be kept for B.C. industry, not used to increase that of the Columbia River in the United States.

CSR To Assimilate Other Island Units

By ROY THORSEN

The new Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) slated to provide the infantry defense for the whole island in its expanded role under the re-organized militia army, is taking definite shape.

Lieut. Col. Jack Fawcett, new commander of the famous infantry regiment, said today that provisional arrangements have been made to establish rifle companies in each of the four up-island cities where LAA and anti-tank units have been fused with the Scottish.

In Duncan "A" Company will be born. "B" in Nanaimo and "D" in Port Alberni. They are all formerly of the 66th LAA Regiment, RCA, which has been wiped out as such. "Company C" will be located in Courtenay, replacing the 62nd Anti-Tank unit, which has also been placed under the Scottish wing. It is believed that gunners of AA and AT units are staying on to become trained 100 per cent as infantrymen.

The establishment of the first three rifle companies in Duncan, Nanaimo and Courtenay follows the pre-war makeup of the Scottish Regiment. Operations of the regiment will be governed in Victoria. Headquarters and Support Companies will function here, also a special "E" rifle company. The commander figures that all paper work to finalize the up-island affiliation will be completed in a week or two.

It is understood Col. Fawcett is presently negotiating for several articles of dress, with emphasis on kilts, to improve the appearance of his troops.

The Scottish pipe band will make its first appearance in Nanaimo Nov. 11 since the re-organization to participate in that city's Remembrance Day services.

new ESSO EXTRA WINTER GASOLINE

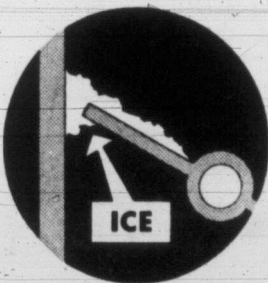

the only gasoline that gives you protection against • carburetor icing
• gas line freezing

Does your car stall when idling? Research now proves a major cause of this is ice in the carburetor and gas line! Yes, ice! Even at above-freezing temperatures—in fact up to 55°F.—ice forms. To overcome this, Imperial Oil developed NEW ESO Extra with special anti-icing qualities that prevent stalling. This new gasoline also prevents gas line freezing... you no longer need to add remedies to the gas tank or need run the risk of your car refusing to start. ESO Extra which leads other gasolines in quick starting, fast warm-up and power, now gives protection against stalling and freeze up!

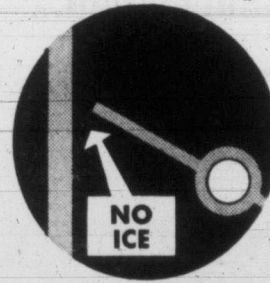

If you stall, don't blame your engine until you try new ESSO EXTRA

OTHER GASOLINES
Carburetor icing
a major cause of engine stalling

As you start your car, air is sucked through the carburetor and gasoline enters the air stream. As the gasoline evaporates, it chills the carburetor. Moisture in the air condenses on this chilled metal and freezes into ice, if the humidity is high and the temperature between 55° and 28°F. When idling, the ice forms a bridge between throttle plate and carburetor wall, the flow of the fuel mixture (see arrow above) is stopped... the car stalls.

NEW ESSO EXTRA
Prevents stalling caused by carburetor icing

New ESO Extra will not, of course, stop stalling due to mechanical defects but the special anti-stalling qualities of new ESO Extra prevent the formation of ice from the moisture in the air. The opening between the throttle plate and carburetor wall cannot become bridged with ice. The fuel mixture (see arrow above) continues to flow through the carburetor to give you smooth performance, free from stalling.

LITTLE GIRL DIES BY INCHES IN KOREA'S 'CITY OF LEPERS'

Work Point Chaplain Rallies Life-Giving Aid for Tiny Kim

The following dispatch, written by a U.S. soldier in Korea, was brought to the Times by Capt. E. W. MacQuarrie, chaplain at Work Point Barracks. A Korean veteran himself, Capt. MacQuarrie feels Canadians should be made to understand what terrible conditions exist in that war-torn country. He says the situation in the leper colony described below is not an isolated case; that similar conditions are to be found everywhere. People in the United States, he said, are rallying behind a campaign to provide some measure of relief. Apart from assistance rendered through government channels, and on the spot acts by Canadian service men, Canada has contributed little to the cause. Persons wanting to assist in aiding Koreans may send contributions through the Royal Canadian Army Chaplain Corps, care of Capt. MacQuarrie, Work Point Barracks.

By PVT. J. T. DEMPSEY
WITH THE 7TH TRANSPORTATION PORT COMPANY IN KOREA, Oct. 10 (Delayed)—Today I made a trip over muddy back roads to a leper colony about 10 miles outside Pusan. Seeing is believing, they say . . . and I saw.

I saw what few human eyes have seen. I saw 1,600 of the saddest people on the face of the earth.

There are a lot of nasty places in Korea but this one really takes the cake. Here, human dignity has hit a new low.

Scantily-clothed, underfed, housed in shacks, these people have nothing to live for. They are, truly, "The Forgotten People."

1,600 DYING

They live in mountains, away from civilization. It is a little town, the Town With No Name. It's very peaceful there. You'd never know that 1,600 people were dying.

Take six-year-old Kim Sook Ja, for example. She's a healthy-looking girl. You'd never guess that this will be her last Christmas, that the disease is systematically going about its deadly work inside her frail body.

Kim doesn't know her last Christmas is coming either. She doesn't know that what took away her father and mother will soon take her. She just plays with a raggedy doll someone gave her. She plans to see Santa Claus many more times.

And who has the guts to tell her otherwise? Who has the guts to go around to 400 children like Kim and tell them they'd better play hard while they still can . . . That they'd better hurry and live fast, because leprosy won't wait.

LIFE IS HARD

But even in her last days, Kim doesn't have it easy. Life is hard, even for a six-year-old.

She lives in a small, crowded room with five or six other people. She spends nights on a straw mat, searching for warmth that isn't there. What chance has a straw mat and one worn dress against the bitter Korean winter?

NO VISITORS

Play means her well-worn raggedy doll or the mud puddles. No one ever comes to see her, nor can she go see that world she has never known.

She must stay behind those big red and yellow signs that say, "Keep Out—Leprosy—Keep Out."

The only people Kim sees are those five or 10 sick ones that come to the gates of the Town With No Name each day. They never come in. There is no room. They must go back to Pusan to spend the rest of their agonizing days. Even Kim is better off than they.

HUNGER, TOO

Hunger also plays a big role in Kim's little life. Most girls her age get about six handfuls of rice a day. Kim gets four. And it's barley, not rice. Second-grade barley at that. She doesn't know that outside her little world that type of barley is fed only to horses.

The people sometimes grow a few vegetables, but there's never enough to go around. Kim eats her barley and for her it's the only food in the world. How could she know about ice cream cones, banana splits, popcorn and movies?

Kim doesn't understand about dying. She has a hard time figuring out why some of her playmates have suddenly gone away. She wonders why others can go away and she can't. Everything comes hard for Kim.

LACK OF MEDICINE

She doesn't know that the only reason most of them are dying is because of the lack of medicine.

Words like diazone, propene and DDS mean nothing to Kim.

She doesn't know that these "big words" could bring her about 50 more Christmases. But others know. They can't get enough medicine to treat any but a few of the cases. There just isn't enough to go around.

As a result, curable cases—like Kim's—become incurable by the time they get the medicine. But Kim can't see the vicious circle. She doesn't know that her mother and father might be with her still if they had had those "big words".

I told Kim that maybe, as a Christmas present, I could get some people to help her and her friends. To send some of those "big words". To send food and clothing.

MAYBE TOYS, TOO

I told her that someone might even be able to send toys for her and the other children.

I promised these things from that world she has never known. I didn't have the guts to do otherwise.

I hope you can help. After all, it's Kim's last Christmas.

Everything in the very lowest form today:

It was decided to introduce daylight saving in West Germany and also East Germany. Elaborate preparations were made in both sectors to make the switchover smoothly. Despite everything, in East Germany all was confusion.

The pilots who fly on and off HMCS Magnificent have a casual word for crack-ups. They call them "prangs." So it has been suggested they should adapt a certain song usually associated with Bob Hope as their squadron theme:

(I won't say who suggested it).

If the price of tea goes up, as forecast, I can see trouble brewing in Victoria.

Mr. Roy Bergo, who is either going to go to Alaska in a tub or not to go to Alaska in a tub, is not the first man to sail a somewhat odd nautical contrivance.

Once upon a long, long time ago, there was a man who owned a three-masted sailing vessel, and he got tired putting up and taking down so many sails.

So he rigged a big kite, and flew it, hoping the kite would pull the ship.

Well, the kite flew all right, but the ship sank.

Which proved conclusively, his barque was worse than his kite.

Two juveniles who appeared in Colwood RCMP court Tuesday each were fined $10 and costs for speeding but their licenses were not suspended. Instead of a formal restriction, Magistrate A. I. Thomas ordered the parents of the pair, who were present in court, to hold the boys' licenses for a two-month period.

"CRACKED EGG WITH A BAND-AID"

Victoria's mild climate has resulted in off-season raspberries in at least one Victoria garden.

Ripe raspberries have been reported growing at the home of Mrs. James Zwinger, 328 St. James Street. Besides the ripe berries, green ones and bloom cover the canes.

Robert John Taylor, 1312 Gladstone, paid $40 for driving while disqualified and another $25 for having another car's license plates on his car. He appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

Sidney Petersen, 2093 Byron, who permitted the exchange of plates from his car, was fined $25 or five days.

"He only blew his horn two times," said Robert Edward Graham in police court today in explaining why he failed to permit another car to pass him.

The other car was driven by a policeman.

Graham paid $10 for failing to pull over.

October "Boy of the Month" is David Napper, Victoria Y's Men's Club announced Tuesday. Twelve-year-old David, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Napper, 1046 Clare, will be presented an inscribed plaque and a sweater crest at a club meeting Thursday.

Operator of the YMCA boys' department canteen, David plans to become a junior leader in the near future.

Foresters' children's Christmas party will be held on the afternoon of December 19 in the Lower Crystal Garden Ballroom, it was announced Tuesday at a meeting of Court Victoria, No. 1008, Independent Order of Foresters.

160 Jobs Threatened At Up-Island Mine

Dollar-Scarcity Forces Japan to Stop Purchasing Argonaut Mine's Iron Ore

A shortage of dollars in Japan may force the closing of the Argonaut Co. Ltd., open pit iron mine in the Quinsam district west of Campbell River, it was learned today.

Close to 160 jobs are threatened.

Already the hauling crew has been laid off because a stock pile of 70,000 tons exists, there are no ships available to haul the ore, and no market.

Japan has been the main buyer of the ore, but a dollar shortage has forced reduction of her purchases.

A company official is reported to have left San Francisco Tuesday for Tokyo, where he will attempt to re-establish a market for the up-island ore.

Observers close to the industry say competition from other countries using more primitive methods and cheap labor has become increasingly difficult to match.

Argonaut at one time employed 300 men, but reductions to the present number have been fairly constant since March of this year.

Power Station Cables Going Underground

Workmen expect to complete in two weeks' time the laying underground of 4,000-volt cable along three blocks of Douglas Street, near Bay.

Work now underway is the first phase of a four-year program of B.C. Electric to eliminate wire congestion in the immediate vicinity of its Bay Street substation. Eventually, 14 circuits leading away from the distributing unit will be placed underground.

"The program now being undertaken is consistent with modern practice," a company spokesman explained. "In the case of a substation, so many circuits are involved that have to be carried above ground would require a great many poles very close to one another."

"In an area such as that, which is congested now and has heavy traffic, it is desirable to keep the number of poles to a minimum."

Once the circuits are three or four blocks from the substation, they are brought from underground and carried overhead.

Circuits now being installed underground go south on Douglas to Queens.

Work is being done by G. W. Ledingham Company, Vancouver.

Governor Quits Shawnigan Over Hewitt Affair

Couple Reach Vancouver Tonight

Dissension within the board of governors of exclusive Shawnigan Lake School with regard to the handling of the now-famous "Hewitt Affair" came to light Tuesday night with the resignation from the board of D. Lukin Johnston, of Vancouver.

Mr. Johnston, a member of the board since 1947, said he was quitting "because of recent actions taken with which I have fundamentally disagreed."

While Mr. Johnston declined further comment, his position was interpreted as criticism of Headmaster G. Peter Kaye and other board members for their stand with respect to "mixed marriage."

The school took its stand when Dorothy Holt, a beautiful 21-year-old fashion model, arrived at the school in August, to be married to John Hewitt, 31-year-old science teacher.

The headmaster asked the two to delay their wedding in order to reconsider the matter of mixed marriage. Without his knowledge, however, the wedding went ahead and Mrs. Hewitt returned to her father's home in Jamaica four days later.

There she announced she had been told to leave the school "before the boys return and see a colored person."

DENIAL ISSUED

The school issued a denial.

The affair became an international incident.

Today, Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt were winging their way across Canada headed for Vancouver, where they plan to start married life anew.

The couple returned to Canada from Jamaica Tuesday night by plane. They landed at Toronto and explained this morning for Vancouver. They are scheduled to arrive at 8 tonight. Then they intend to go apartment hunting.

Mr. Hewitt told Toronto reporters he hoped to find a teaching job in the mainland city, and confirmed his earlier statement that he would not return to Shawnigan Lake Boys' School.

The school paid Mr. Hewitt's return air passage to Jamaica and Mrs. Hewitt's passage back to Canada. It did so, however, on the understanding that Mr. Hewitt and his wife would return to Shawnigan.

Mr. Hewitt said in Toronto he did not know whether he would have to return the passage money in view of his decision not to go back.

Shoplifters Fined $25 Each

Two shoplifters, each of whom blamed their action on drink, were sentenced in city police court today.

Dorothy Jackson, Victoria, who pleaded guilty earlier to stealing groceries valued at $1.95 from the Hudson's Bay food department was fined $25 or ten days.

William Hall, who was guilty of a similar offense last week at Quadra Safeway Ltd., received the same penalty this morning.

ULTIMATE IN INSULTS

City Council allocated $32,535 earlier this year to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to help publicize the city far and wide.

Today officials at City Hall are wondering if perhaps they should have designated the money be spent in Ontario.

This thought has been prompted by a letter delivered at City Hall from the Toronto office of the large manufacturing concern of Canadian Allis-Chalmers Ltd.

It was addressed: "President, Village Board, Victoria, B.C., Canada."

RCN's NEWEST

Tiny Fortune Commissioned For Vital Job

By MONTE ROBERTS

A small ship, with a small ship's company but a big job to do, joined the Royal Canadian Navy at 11 a.m. today.

In a brief, colorful ceremony steeped in naval tradition, HMCS Fortune, Victoria-built minesweeper, was commissioned at HMC Dockyard.

Her captain, Lieut.-Cmdr. J. B. Young, told the officers and crew of the new ship: "We are small, but don't underestimate the importance of our job."

He thanked the people of Canada "for giving us this fine ship," and praised the skill of Victoria Machinery Depot workmen in building her.

Fortune is the 14th and last in Canada's current mine sweeper construction program. She joins HMC ships Comox and James Bay to form the nucleus of the Second Canadian Mine-sweeping Squadron. Future naval plans are expected to call for further expansion.

VITAL WAR ROLE

Rear Admiral J. C. Hibbard, flag officer, Pacific coast, in a brief commissioning address, told the ship's company they have one of the most vital roles in wartime.

"We must have free access to our coastal waters, or all else is lost," he said.

Admiral Hibbard referred to the reports he had received on Fortune's trials, and said: "There is no doubt she is a fine ship."

The new ship, latest addition to Canada's growing navy, was blessed by Chaplain H. R. Pike, Command Chaplain, Pacific Coast, and Chaplain G. P. Farrell, Chaplain, RC (RCN), Pacific Coast.

Invited civilian guests included Harold Husband, managing director of Victoria Machinery Depot, and Tom Moffett, works manager. Also present were captains of RCN ships in port and other senior naval officers, including Capt. Cecil I. Hinchcliffe, principal naval overseer, new ship construction, under whose supervision Fortune was built.

She will join Comox and James Bay in minesweeping exercises almost immediately.

Robert James Hume, 1050 Rockland, paid $25 in city police court today for driving a car without a license. "I'd just bought it," he told the court.

Insular Policies Scored By Briton

The United Kingdom has failed Europe, a prominent British commentator on international affairs told Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting in Empress Hotel today.

Ernest Watkins, associate editor of the London Economist and BBC commentator, said: "UK has failed Europe by expecting France to surrender an element of sovereignty in order to create a new Europe . . . the British people showed no signs of surrendering themselves in the same cause."

His address pointed out that German rearmament won't end political troubles, and emphasized the significance of complete entrance by Britain, France and Germany in a European political union.

Britain, he indicated, is probably the most vulnerable European country today, and definitely part of Europe by geography in spite of her Commonwealth sentiments.

"I think a first concern of Britain should have been the health and vitality of Europe, for only if Europe is strong can she be," Mr. Watkins said.

"Together, Britain, France and Germany could achieve unity in Europe. If any one stands out, unity will not come. I think Britain should have gone into EDC . . . from the start. I think the fact that she did not is perhaps the biggest single factor in why it has been stillborn."

The United Kingdom has decided at the London conference to accept a political commitment in respect to western Europe, for the first time in time of peace," said Mr. Watkins.

"That gives western Europe a fresh chance to achieve a political unity and that is something which needs the backing of all other countries in NATO, including Canada."

which afflict a logical people. Emotion is the prime mover of their actions, but then logic takes full charge."

Mr. Watkins attributed American indifference to success of a united Europe to a suspicion that Americans are ignorant of the thousand years of history behind each of the nations which comprise Europe, and the feeling that Europe is a place to be feared.

Canada, on the other hand, is in a more advantageous position because Canadians have four-fifths of modern Europe's history as part of themselves, he said. All Canadians lack is the fear and hate of this century's Europe.

"You can talk 20th century sense — 21st century sense, as well, I think — to a Europe that still wears too many blinkers from the 19th," Mr. Watkins said.

"You can do all that — and I hope you will, for now, above any other time, is the moment when there is the best chance that it will be listened to."

Lack of Common Language Threatens India Leadership

Will India be able to hold her sovereignty until she can find a common language for parliamentary use?

The problem of India and the fact that she has dropped English as her governing language, and the effect India is having on nations bordering the Indian Ocean were discussed Tuesday evening by BBC commentator Ernest Watkins at a meeting of the United Nations Association at Metropolitan Church Hall.

"India must find a common language," Mr. Watkins told listeners, "if she is to hold her independence and if she is to keep the Communists away from her door."

India is the centre of a southern arc, said Mr. Watkins, who is well-known for his overseas news commentaries and his home television programs in England.

"At one end of the arc is Africa with her problem of colonialism and racial trouble. At the other end is Indonesia, trying her wings as an independent nation. All the countries bordering the Indian Ocean look to India for a lead."

Mr. Watkins, a lawyer turned writer, is on his second visit

This Plastic Ice Crusher
Newer, Cheaper, Easier

By PENNY SAVER

How many times have you served your guests a fruit or oyster cocktail, thinking how much nicer it would be, were it set in crushed ice? I realize the reason you didn't get busy and crush some ice is that it's such a tricky job, getting a rolling pin or hammer, and letting loose with a mighty heave ho, only to send ice cubes hurtling into the air and onto the floor. Yes, crushing ice is no simple problem, when you tackle it in this manner.

Simplest and fastest way to crush ice is to do it with a twist tray. You buy a flexible plastic tray and fill it with water, as you would the ordinary ice cube tray. Instead of being sectioned off into cubes, this tray has a plastic insert which has many more sections, thus forming thin, wafer pieces of ice.

After the water has frozen, you run warm water over the bottom of the tray and then twist it back and forth a few times. The ice will fall out into the bowl in tiny, crushed bits... perfect for that oyster cocktail or ice-cold beverage! Just $1 will buy the tray. I know you'll use it again and again.

The hostess whose pet peeve is ash trays that clutter up furniture in her living room will love this wall ash tray. Convenient, yet out of harm's way, the crystal tray is supported by shiny chrome and is priced at only 85 cents.

One Victoria store is featuring convertible jumpers. With the jumper craze in full swing, they are promoting the idea that you buy one garment and use it for both a jumper and a date dress.

Choice is most important if you plan on owning a convertible jumper. It has to be of good quality material that can be dressed up or down. Wear a sweater or blouse and you are smart for school or office. Then, without the sweater, it's dressy if you wear a fancy belt and tasteful jewelry.

This particular store is featuring a whole rack of jumpers in wools and corduroy and every one is convertible. Prices range from $12.95 to $19.95.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For the past two days I have been giving you information about brassieres, because I feel that this is one subject upon which women as a whole are poorly informed and because this is such an important subject so far as feminine health and beauty are concerned. Today I want to finish up with a few last bits of advice.

You may take your bust for granted but it is most delicately formed. Your bust is made up of many small glands and is held to the chest by delicate tissues. It is most important that you have your brassieres fitted properly so that they support but do not injure.

Yesterday I gave you directions which come from The Corset and Underwear Review, as to how to discover the right size for you in bra and cup size. The best thing would be to be fitted by an expert. In many stores you will find these highly trained and experienced women. However, if you do not have one nearby, or you suspect that one who has been fitting you really does not know how, you can check with the information I gave you yesterday.

If you wear a wired brassiere take special care that it is properly fitted because constant irritation or pressure from wires can be dangerous.

If you have an extremely heavy bust you should be most carefully fitted for comfort and for good looks. Many women who have this type bust make the mistake of trying to lift it too high. This throws the symmetry of the figure off balance and makes the bust appear even larger.

Wide shoulder straps are a great boon because they reduce the cutting of shoulder straps which the unusual weight may cause. This brassiere should be built up higher in the front and back in order to give support to large busts.

Try this exercise: Clasp the hands together in front of the chest with the elbows bent. Push hard, one hand against the other. Can you feel the muscles of the chest contract? Hold a few seconds. Relax. Push again. Hold. Relax. Continue.

If you would like to have my tested bustline developing exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7 "Don't Have Round Shoulders and Flat Bust—Reverse!"

Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Pentty, Mrs. Herbert Murray, Mr. Laurie Smith, Mr. Pentty.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Poorly ventilated closets often get damp and musty during humid weather. If the closet is not too large, a small electric light bulb burning constantly will give enough heat to stop the mildew. Be sure that the bulb is not placed where it will touch, or nearly touch, clothing.

Rainy-day first-aid for busy mothers comes in the form of empty cereal boxes. Save several of them, and the next time the small fry are housebound, give them kindergarten scissors and crayons, and suggest they make a toy village.

Painting the kitchen floor? Take a heavy pencil and mark off lines to make two-foot squares. One day, paint alternate squares so that the kitchen looks like a checkerboard. The next day, not letting your paint dry out, paint the other squares. You can use the room for cooking the whole time.

Your stockings will last longer if you rotate them in wearing. To keep track of them, keep them in a regular sectioned stocking box. That way you'll be able to wear all six pairs before wearing the first a second time.

If you are planning to shop for a coat for this fall's wardrobe, and if it's to be one that must serve for many types of occasions, remember that the coat of tweed, of pronounced plaids, checks, does not look well when worn with party dresses.

NEW ADVENTURE

Galloways to Spend Winter In Europe; Roger to Work

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Galloway, young marrieds from Seattle, who have been touring Europe by car in the past few months, (Mrs. Galloway, the former Miss Edith McGill of this city, has already told you something of her travels in this column), have decided to stay in Germany for awhile. Mr. Galloway has accepted a position in Weisbaden with the Judge Advocate of the American Services and Mrs. Galloway will continue her violin studies there. They plan to see much of the country and this column today will tell a little of their recent travels.

ROME.

"We arrived in Rome Sunday afternoon and our four days here haven't been altogether satisfactory. We like Rome very much but we have had two bad experiences that have soured us a little on the Italians and their food. The first: While driving through Bologna we stopped and bought some bread and meat to add to our Dutch cheese, so we wouldn't lose any traveling time and ate it in the car. The following afternoon Roger began to complain of stomach cramps and by evening was quite miserable. We found a pension, and called a doctor. He said Roger had eaten some bad meat (stuffed in Bologna). Luckily I had only eaten the cheese so I felt fine. Don't know whether we'll make it to Naples and Capri or not."

Lose Driver's License in Rome

"The other experience was with the car. We left it parked right in front of the pension the first night—right under a street light—look in our bags but we left the sleeping bags, air mattresses and a little cuckoo clock we bought in the Black Forest in the car—and locked it up tight. The next morning when we came down we found it had been broken into. The little metal latch on my wing window had been filed off!!! But the strange thing was that they only took one sleeping bag (which we found later—down the street a way) and some of our car papers (international driver's license and the insurance papers). So actually it wasn't too serious. That's life!"

"But now, the other news. I told you in the last letter about the job and that we were waiting. Well, we received a wire today, saying yes... so I guess we'll be living in Wiesbaden this winter. We'll be only one day from the Black Forest region; two from Switzerland; one from France; one and a half from Belgium and Holland. We'll have to find our own apartment until there is space available in the new government apartments, which they say won't be until January."

INNSBRUCK.

"Arrived here yesterday afternoon and we are enchanted with it. There are high mountains on three sides; two funiculars that take you up nearly to the top where there are outdoor restaurants. Our trip from Venice to Innsbruck through the Dolomites was wonderful, about the most scenic two days we've had on the whole trip."

Apartment Hunting in Germany

WIESBADEN.

"The population of this city is about 100,000. It's nicely situated in a valley surrounded with wooded hills and beyond them a grape and apple growing countryside. Four miles southwest, across the Rhine, is Mainz and 25 miles southeast is Frankfurt. In the three cities there are four symphony orchestras and three opera companies with full schedules. The best seats cost about $1. We can get as far as 100 miles on a week-end so you can understand the places we can visit and see much better than we've been able thus far on our trip. If we should stay as long as a year we will then be entitled to three weeks vacation, too."

"Wiesbaden, especially in earlier years, was famous for its mineral baths. The warm water in the area prevents any snow or cold weather from staying very long. During the last half of October and all of November the waters have another less desirable effect. From early morning until nearly noon there is usually very heavy fog but it isn't cold and breaks up well before noon."

"We have been looking for an apartment 'on the economy' as they say here, i.e. renting from the Germans. Finally we were lucky and while the apartment is not all we could desire it will do until we are moved into the government housing. We have to share a kitchen and bathroom with three other people—the landlady (a Jewish woman who fled to Palestine in the war and has just come back to Wiesbaden to reclaim her parents' home) and another American couple. It is not too well equipped but I guess we can manage."

Our other two rooms are very nice, rather large but nicely furnished. One has southern exposure and the other, western. We are near a park and within walking distance of the shopping district."

Student From Jamaica Finds City Friendly; Will Graduate With BA

By GAIL STOTT

A pert brown-eyed young woman from Kingston, Jamaica, is attending Victoria College this year, and finding the city friendly and attractive.

Jennifer Sloy is taking courses in preparation for a teaching career.

She compares her classmates and other people she has met most favorably with Jamaicans. "They are much more friendly here. An outsider in Kingston would have a more difficult time feeling at home than I have in Victoria."

She plans to continue through university to get her BA degree, later becoming a high school teacher. Through teaching she hopes to travel on exchange to England and other parts of the world. If opportunities for such travel do not occur she may return to her home.

Her favorite subject is history, but she also enjoys geography, and dislikes maths and science.

In Jamaica Miss Sloy taught geography for a term in the Upper School from which she graduated with her senior matric. Very active in student affairs, she was a prefect and a house captain. As such she organized house concerts and other school activities.

Coming from Jamaica, Miss Sloy naturally finds many differences in Victoria. But she says: "The weather hasn't bothered me yet." Education in Jamaica is not co-educational. The boys and girls attending different schools meet only at special functions. She has some difficulty adjusting herself to the free intermingling here. She finds the gardens in Victoria very attractive, but would not compare them to Jamaica.

Wed in Trail, To Live in Victoria

In a recent wedding in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Trail, John Woolcock of Victoria, took as his bride, Sharon Virginia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell of Trail.

Rev. L. D. Ritchie performed the ceremony for the tall dark haired bride who was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white lace with fitted bodice, scoop neckline edged with pleated net, lace cap sleeves and full accordion pleated skirt over taffeta in ballerina length. Her fingertip veil of nylon illusion net was worn over her face on entering the church and was attached to a lace pillbox cap with clusters of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her bouquet was gold Talisman roses and maidenhair fern.

Attendants were Miss Joyce Riecken, Victoria, maid of honor; Miss Gwen Woolcock, Victoria, sister of the groom, and Miss Yvonne Reed, Nipawin, Sask., cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white lace with fitted bodice, scoop neckline edged with pleated net, lace cap sleeves and full accordion pleated skirt over taffeta in ballerina length. Her fingertip veil of nylon illusion net was worn over her face on entering the church and was attached to a lace pillbox cap with clusters of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her bouquet was gold green accessories and the latter in dusky rose lace and crepe with black accessories.

The bride's table was centred with a four-tier cake surrounded with pale blue tulle and six tall blue candles. Individual tables were centred with one blue candle set in blue tulle.

Motoring to San Francisco on honeymoon, Mrs. Woolcock wore a black cashmere clutch coat over a claret and black tweed fitted dress, a black velvet cloche trimmed with claret chiffon, black accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Woolcock will return to Victoria Sunday to make their home at 955 Fairfield Road.

Junior Club Party

Miss Florence Phillimore's Junior Studio Club held a Halloween party last Saturday afternoon at 180 St. Charles Street. A program of piano solos and duets was given, followed by games and refreshments. Miss Phillimore was assisted by Mrs. B. E. Foster, Mrs. B. Ridley and Miss Gladys Tanning. The following were present: Esther Brine, Denise Clague, Bill and Gordon Davies, Clarice Haddock, Ann Moir, Patricia McMicking, Joan and Gayel Oswald, Genevieve Sawatsky, Marilyn Strouts and John Willson. A collection was taken for the Save the Children Fund.

Noon Wedding Vows Heard In St. Richard's Church

St. Richard's Church, Langford, was the scene of a wedding at noon, Saturday, when Patricia Anne Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Kennedy, became the bride of William Thomas Malloch, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Malloch, 95 Millstream Road, Langford.

Rev. W. J. O'Brien conducted the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her gown of white satin, the full skirt flaring to ballerina length. Bodice was fitted and featured a sweetheart neckline. Her veil was shoulder-length and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

The bride's sister, Miss Maxine Kennedy, was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of blue satin. Peach colored roses and chrysanthemums formed her bouquet. Miss Susan Kennedy, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Des Moseley acted as best man.

Home of the bride's parents was scene of the reception, where toast to the bride was proposed by her uncle, H. J. Kennedy. Autumn flowers decorated the rooms and the newlyweds stood before the fireplace to cut their three-tier wedding cake.

For traveling up Island, to Vancouver and the Interior of British Columbia on honeymoon, the bride donned a brown and navy-flecked wool dress, green hat and navy accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Malloch will live at 14 Winstler Road, Langford.

Costs $115 in Fines
Taking a car without the owner's

After the smash he was found according to police.

One Out, One Leading

Tuesday's U.S. election was featured by the appearance of two sons of the latest president Franklin D.
Roosevelt in the race. FDR Jr., left, suffered a big setback to his political career when he lost his bid for post of attorney-general in New York. Young Roosevelt resigned his seat in the house figuring the new job a stepping stone. It proved more of a stumbling block when Republican Jacob Javits, another resigning house member, beat him. Elder son Jimmy, right, appeared to be sailing into the house from California's 26th district, despite a marital scandal that cost him support of the national Democratic machine.

Hearings Near Conclusion In Rails-Union Dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of British Columbia announced Tuesday arbitration proceedings between Canada's railways and their 145,000 non-operating employees have been adjourned until Monday.

Chief Justice Sloan, federal government arbitrator in the labor dispute, adjourned the meeting at the end of Tuesday's session to permit lawyers for both sides to prepare final summary of arguments presented at the hearings.

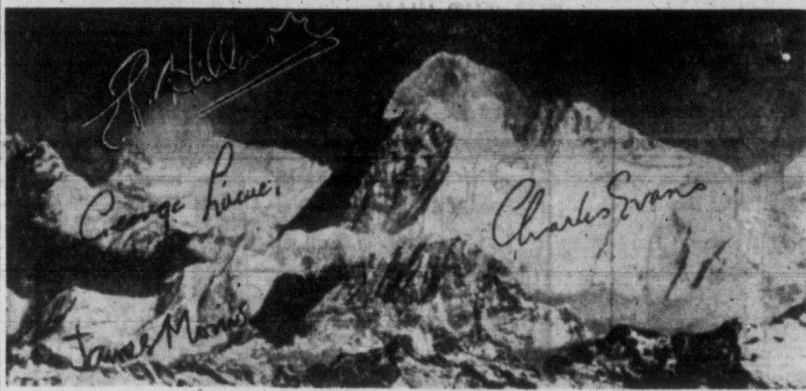

The ruling by the arbitrator will be binding on the railways and the 14 unions representing the employees, who include shop workers, express office workers, yard workers and porters.

The employees are demanding fringe benefits which Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways estimate would cost $60,000,000 a year. The unions, however, say the benefits would not exceed $36,000,000.

Californian to Recount Adventures In Attempt on Giant Himalayan Peak

When Sir Edmund Hillary stood on the peak of Mount Everest May 29, 1953, with his companion Tenzing, Sherpa sirdar of the Everest expedition, he could not resist spending precious time seeking a route up the barren faces of Makalu, only 12 miles away.

After his return from the world's highest peak he wrote as follows:

"To the east was our giant neighbor Makalu, unexplored and unclimbed, and even on top of Everest the mountaineering instinct was sufficiently strong to cause me to spend some moments conjecturing as to whether a route up that mountain might not exist."

No previous attempt had been made on the massive peak until William Siri led his group of Californians, all veterans of Canadian, United States and South American climbs, to its base this year.

The party was able to send two climbers to a height of 23,000 feet. One of the two, William Unsöld, now in Seattle, will give an illustrated account of the climb Friday night at 8 at Oak Bay Junior High School.

Seen on the accompanying picture are the signatures of Sir Edmund, George Lowe, and Dr. Charles Evans, all members of the Everest expedition and companions of Sir Edmund on the near-by Barun Glacier this year. The picture itself was made by Desmond Hollox, and autographed by the climbers and London Times reporter James Morris during their appearance at Memorial Arena.

No Salary Hike For New Head Of Boys School

Better Wage Plan Is Turned Down

VANCOUVER (CP) — The salary of the superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School at Coquitlam will not be increased, despite a citizens' committee report that the $5,952 maximum yearly salary be raised.

The B.C. health and welfare department is advertising for a new superintendent at a range of $416 to $496 a month. The committee report, which prompted the dismissal of seven BISCO officials last month, recommended a salary of $7,200 to $8,400 annually.

Health Minister Eric Martin said the suggested scale, plus a house with electricity, heat, phone and some meals provided, would raise the supervisor above many deputy ministers.

"We have to keep these salary schedules in line," he said. Meanwhile, the Vancouver Herald says a check of the seven officials dismissed from BISCO shows that only one, H. E. Blanchard, the former superintendent, has been given a new job in the civil service.

Mr. Martin announced last week that four of the seven men had been provided with new jobs. The Herald says Mr. Blanchard was the only one who had heard of the new jobs. He has been appointed chief field consultant in the welfare branch at a salary slightly less than he received at BISCO.

Shrubs, Trees Lend Air of Permanence

Shrubs play an important part in every garden, regardless of its size or location.

Many home owners with a small house set in a small garden find the property is too diminutive to permit the planting of even one tree or shrub.

However, the range of choice in both lines is wide. With careful selection, probably with the aid of the nurseryman who grows the plants, suitable subjects may be found.

There are small flowering trees which contribute color in all seasons. Shrubs there are in even greater diversity.

Tiny evergreens such as dwarf Veronica, shapely mounds of colorful leafy branchlets and soft yellow blooms such as the various Hypericum contribute slender upright-growing branches bearing fragrant blossoms such as the Philadelphia (the well-loved Mock Orange)—these and many others may go into the small garden.

Shrubs and trees lend an air of permanence to a home, besides the immeasurable worth of beauty.

Contrary to some opinions they are not difficult to maintain. Their care begins with the soil preparation before planting. Whatever type of soil is being used, fill the planting hole with rotted compost or rotted leaves mixed with soil. Give the plant a good start to overcome the shock of transplanting, keep it well watered, and it will repay with fine sturdy growth.

If no compost or old leaf soil is now available, begin a compost heap this fall, adding all the waste material imaginable. Next spring there will be something to use for planting those subjects which can change a mediocre garden into a place of charm.

Beams and Plans Stall Work on Trading Post

Construction crews will resume work on Victoria Trading Post, on Government Street, in another two or three weeks, J. M. Patterson, president of the firm, said today.

No building permit has been issued, however, and officials at City Hall say they will not authorize work to proceed until satisfactory plans are submitted.

Authorization was given earlier for installation of the footings but since this work was completed the job has been at a standstill.

Mr. Patterson said the present holdup was because delivery of laminated wooden beams being constructed in Vancouver was behind schedule. He said it would not be advisable to proceed with building of walls until beams were available to provide additional support.

He said once work began, the building could be completed in about five weeks. He estimated it would take another three weeks to make the building ready for occupancy.

In scrapping plans for a Christmas opening, the firm has set its sights now for commencement of business at Easter, he said.

Technicians' Calibre Displeases India

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's minister of commerce and industry, T. T. Krishnamachari, today said "two out of four" foreign technicians sent to help India are proving unsatisfactory. He told the Foreign Correspondents' Association here that out of every four experts sent "one is very good, one is good and other two we could do as well or better without."

Most technicians here are American.

College Evening Courses Held Equivalent to Best

Because of the abundance of qualified instructors living in this district, Victoria College can offer evening classes on a wide variety of subjects as good as those given on any university campus.

Speaking on the Victoria College Adult Education Program to members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club Tuesday, Professor Robert Wallace defined the purpose of adult training and outlined the types of instruction being given in the city.

"Education, as the Massey Report stated," he said, "is the progressive development of the individual and all his facilities."

"And Victoria College is attempting to give adults a chance to study, not only those academic classes taught to regular students during the day, but courses in what is generally termed 'appreciation.'"

"We are trying, through our evening classes to present some of the more informal aspects of education. We feel that doing so will give people an opportunity to increase the use of his facilities."

"This community has invested heavily in Victoria College, and we in turn are trying to meet the requirements of the community."

Prof. Wallace outlined a brief history of the institution, and described the advance of the college and the commencement of evening classes.

24th Traffic Fatality

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Ostaf, 49, became Vancouver's 24th traffic fatality of the year Tuesday night when he died in hospital shortly after being struck by a car in the downtown district. A charge of manslaughter was laid against Fred Messer in connection with the death.

Color Bar Charge Brought in Dresden

TORONTO (UPI)—The crown attorney at Chatham was asked to issue a summons today for a Dresden, Ont., restaurant owner, the first person to be formally charged with violating the province's five-month-old Anti-Discrimination Act.

Labor Minister Charles Daley ordered an information laid against Morley McKay after receiving a complaint from Bromley Armstrong, a Toronto Negro union official, that he was refused service in McKay's restaurant last Friday.

The Fair Accommodation Practices Act provides fines of $50 to $100 for refusing service to any person in a public place. "We intend to eliminate discrimination in this province," Daley said.

A Hamilton judge had already investigated a charge that McKay previously violated the law, but Daley said last week that there would be no prosecution unless the discrimination continued.

HURRICANE FUND AIDED
WINNIPEG (UPI)—George Anderson, secretary of the Football Association of Canada, announced Tuesday that his organization had voted to give $1,000 to the Ontario hurricane relief fund. He said it was the same amount as the association contributed to the 1950 Manitoba flood relief fund.

(A) "SCOTCH ON THE ROCKS" (Dominion): As Scottish as haggis this excellent British film is not only as gay as a reel but it is also as solid in theme as a heaping bowl of porridge.

Boasting such renowned thespians as Ronald Squire, Raymond ("Passport to Pimlico") Huntley, Kathleen ("Odd Man Out") Ryan, Sebastian Shaw, Jean Collin and Prupella ("Hobson's Choice") Scales, "Scotch on the Rocks" is one of those delightful plots surrounding man's rights to fair play by his government. In a lonely little Scottish settlement there is "anarchy," and in far-away London officialdom makes hasty plans to stamp it out, sending a three-man delegation for an on-the-spot investigation.

THE REVOLT OF THE SCOTS is caused by the government-demanding license fees on the three motor vehicles. They contend they will not pay because the road is in such poor repair. They demand that the government provide a new road or a new jetty for the steamers, preferably both. Otherwise they will not pay their auto licenses. The fun begins when the MP and his aides try to talk the Scots into forsaking their settlement for a brand new housing project in another community. But the Scots, whose doughty ancestors settled the wee tip of land centuries before, stoutly refuse to budge an inch.

As has come to be expected in these British films the casting is very good and the number of village characters they can push into such a comparatively small play is unbelievable. "Scotch on the Rocks" is also rich with "small stuff," like poaching, sly local gossip and other bits of play-making that raises what might be quite ordinary fare into something to be remembered. Best of all the men and women look like men and women one would meet anywhere and the photography is realistic—beautiful when it should be and dreary and wet when called for.

Altogether "Scotch on the Rocks" is a theatrical treat for those who count story, acting and direction above glamour for glamour's sake.

WE ARE LOOKING FORWARD to dropping into the Capitol tonight to see what Warner's have done with the TV hit "Dragnet." From what we've heard it pretty well follows the usual pattern with its own stars, Jack Webb as

Sgt. Joe Friday and Ben Alexander as Officer Frank Smith. If true, it should be all the more interesting when seen on the large screen.

Seems to be a definite chain starting up between the movies and TV. Once upon a time their was' great fear in Hollywood that television was going to usurp the place of the films as the mass entertainment media. Now, however, it is obvious that there will be room for both. What is more they seem to be exchanging stars and stories. "Dragnet" is almost a complete lift from the TV studios, as was "The Long, Long Trailer" with Lucille Ball and hubby Dessi Arnez of "I Love Lucy" fame. As time goes on there should be much more of this. And why not? The two fields should be interchangeable.

And where would TV be without the movies (particularly the old ones) to rely on?

Dope Runner Shot by Gang

Vancouver Dragnet Scours City After New Assassination Attempt

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A police dragnet was thrown out around Greater Vancouver today after one man was shot and a suspected assailant arrested in a midnight gangland shooting affray in Stanley Park.

High-ranking city police and Royal Canadian Mounted Police spearheaded the investigation after ex-convict William Semnick, about 50, was shot in the groin in what police described as an apparent underworld narcotics assassination attempt.

An unidentified suspect, about 26, was arrested shortly after the shooting and was being held in city jail. A second man believed to have taken part in the attempted killing was the object of one of the greatest manhunts in Vancouver history.

The chance arrival of a patrolling police constable was credited with saving the life of Semnick, who was sentenced in Nov. 1950, to a four-year prison term on a narcotics conviction. Semnick, who was also charged with the $9,300 hold-up of a west end Bank of Montreal branch in the same month, was questioned in the General Hospital today where officials described his condition as good.

A stay of proceedings was

VICTIM'S FAMILY HERE?

A bizarre midnight shooting at Vancouver had echoes in Victoria today when it was reliably learned that the wife and children of the victim of the latest gangland atrocity are resident here.

Mrs. Semnick, a boy 11 and a girl are known to be in this area. RCMP could not say where the three are living and added that as an event their presence would be shielded to protect them from the violence which was directed today at Semnick.

There is evidence that until 1949 Semnick's family lived in James Bay and that at one time posed under an assumed name.

entered in the bank robbery trial due to insufficient evidence.

Victim 'Taken for a Ride'

Police said Semnick was "taken for a ride" by two rival narcotics gangsters and escaped from his would-be assassins near Lumberman's Arch in Stanley Park.

Four shots were fired at Semnick, but only one found its mark. The gunman fled when park patrolman Constable Bill Lindsay happened on the scene.

The unidentified suspect was captured soaking wet when he was pulled from the chilling waters of Coal Harbor about half an hour after the shooting. He had been hanging over the

Man Hangs From Stern of Boat

Police sealed off Stanley Park within a few minutes but no trace was found of the mystery car.

A little later caretaker Jack Longmire of the Rowing Club spotted a shadowy figure between two boats. He knew nothing of the shooting, but called police who swarmed around the jetty of the yacht club and found the suspect.

B.C. to Build Marpole Span; Spring Start

Tenders for construction of a new Marpole bridge will be called immediately, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today.

The four-lane, high-level span will cross the Fraser River at the foot of Oak Street. Cost is estimated at $8,000,000. The bridge will be undertaken by B.C.'s Toll Bridge and Highway Authority, until such time as "the federal government and the city of Vancouver are prepared to put up one-third of the cost."

The toll authority will call for tenders on approaches, the main span, and a feeder bridge across Morey Channel. The Morey Channel bridge will have a swing span to allow free movement of boat traffic.

Public Works Minister P. A. Gallagher said about two or three months' study of the specifications would be needed by construction firms, and that actual work on both bridges would start "early in the spring."

Mr. Gallagher will leave Victoria for Ottawa Thursday, in a

New Tax Plan For Provinces

St. Laurent Wants All Premiers Present for Parley With Duplessis

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today he hopes to have a new tax proposal to place before provincial premiers before the end of the year.

Such a tax plan, he said, would result from a study of new proposals by Quebec Premier Duplessis for solving the tax differences between their two governments. Quebec is the only province which has not signed a taxation agreement with the federal government and the prime minister said

Mr. Duplessis' proposals, received Tuesday, were studied by the cabinet today and Mr. St. Laurent indicated to reporters following a morning meeting that a Dominion-provincial tax conference with the premiers likely would result.

Such a conference, he said, likely would lead to a later full-dress conference on federal-provincial fiscal relations before the present tax agreements with nine provinces expire at the end of 1956.

The prime minister indicated he wants the premiers of the other provinces to hear and discuss Mr. Duplessis' proposals, received here Tuesday in a letter, before any tax agreement is negotiated between the federal and Quebec governments. He said he does not want to have an agreement with Quebec presented to the other provinces as a "fait accompli" without giving them an opportunity to discuss it.

U.S. Senate Control Hinges on One Seat

'No Repudiation'

President Dwight Eisenhower said in Washington today that he did not feel that the gains made by the Democrats in Tuesday's voting constituted a repudiation of his administration. The president commented philosophically that setbacks must be expected in an off-year election. Democratic leader Adlai Stevenson has so far refrained from comment on the trend to his party.

Surge of Democrats Welcomed in Ottawa

Prime Minister St. Laurent Refuses Comment On U.S. Vote Outcome; Watch Seaway Pacts

OTTAWA (BUP)—Democratic party victories in the U.S. congressional and state elections were generally welcomed in Canadian government and political circles today, but the welcome was tempered with some notes of reserve.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, his cabinet, and opposition party leaders stuck to their custom of refusing to comment directly on the political developments in another friendly country. But most government leaders indicated they were pleased with the Democratic gains, particularly as they might be expected to affect United States trade policy. (See Victor Mackie's Ottawa exclusive on page 3.)

The reservations held by most Ottawa observers hinged on what effect the Democratic victories would have on the recently-negotiated agreements for power and navigation works in development of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Demos Win House —But No Landslide

With counting of votes still incomplete, it was clear today that the Democratic party had made gains in the off-year election in the United States, but they by no means amounted to a landslide against the Republican administration.

Here are the salient points:

1. Democrats have wrested control of the House of Representatives from the Republicans, with 229 members already definitely elected out of the 435-seat House.

2. The battle for the Senate appears to rest on a recount in New Jersey, and there is a prospect it will finish in a 48-48 deadlock which Vice-President Richard Nixon will break, thus retaining control for the Republicans in organizing the body.

B.C. to Build Marpole Span; Spring Start

Tenders for construction of a new Marpole Bridge will be called immediately, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today.

The four-lane, high-level span will cross the Fraser River at the foot of Oak Street. Cost is estimated at $8,000,000. The bridge will be undertaken by B.C.'s Toll Bridge and Highway Authority, until such time as the federal government and the city of Vancouver are prepared to put up one-third of the cost.

The toll authority will call for tenders on approaches, the main span, and a feeder bridge across Morey Channel. The Morey Channel bridge will have a swing span to allow free movement of boat traffic.

Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi said about two or three months' study of the specifications would be needed by construction firms, and that actual work on both bridges would start "early in the spring."

Mr. Gagliardi will leave Victoria for Ottawa Thursday, in a last-ditch attempt to obtain federal government participation. Earlier requests have been turned down.

3. Democrats have taken at least six governorships away from the Republicans.

4. President Eisenhower has claimed that since the Democratic swing was not overwhelming, it cannot be counted as a repudiation of his policies.

5. Political observers feel that President Eisenhower's last-minute entry into the campaign must have had a considerable effect in holding down the expected Democratic tide in the usual off-year trend toward the party out of power.

Police Dragnet Scours Mainland

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A police dragnet was thrown out around Greater Vancouver today after one man was shot and a suspected assailant arrested in a midnight gangland shooting affray in Stanley Park.

High-ranking city police and Royal Canadian Mounted Police spearheaded the investigation after ex-convict William Semenic, about 50, was shot in the groin in what police described as an apparent underworld narcotics assassination attempt.

An unidentified suspect, about 26, was arrested shortly after the shooting and was being held in city jail. A second man believed to have taken part in the attempted killing was the object of one of the greatest manhunts in Vancouver history.

The chance arrival of a patrolling police constable was credited with saving the life of Semenic, who was sentenced in Nov. 1950, to a four-year prison term on a narcotics conviction. Semenic, who was also charged with the $9,300 hold-up of a west end Bank of Montreal branch in the same month, was questioned in the General Hospital today where officials described his condition as good.

A stay of proceedings was entered in the bank robbery trial due to insufficient evidence.

Police said Semenic was "taken for a ride" by two rival narcotics gangsters and escaped from his would-be assassins near Lumberman's Arch in Stanley Park.

Four shots were fired at Semenic, but only one found its mark. The gunman fled when park patrolman Constable Bill Lindsay happened on the scene.

The unidentified suspect was captured soaking wet when he was pulled from the chilling waters of Coal Harbor about half an hour after the shooting. He had been hanging over the stern of a pleasure cruiser at the Vancouver Rowing Club.

Police said four empty revolver shells were found this morning, but a hat and coat believed dropped by the gunman who escaped had not been found. The weapon which fired the shots also was not recovered.

Lindsay said the man was driving slowly through Stanley Park when he saw a flash of gunfire and heard the shots. He saw a car suddenly speed off, and a shadowy figure some distance from the car run into the bushes. "At the same time, Semenic staggered over and gasped, 'Help me, I'm shot.'"

A little later caretaker Jack Longmire of the Rowing Club pattern of the Danny Brent spotted a shadowy figure playing six weeks ago, when two boats.
